

Capital Removal Fight Abandonment Urged In Macon Editorial

Agreement and Unity of
All People in State Is Vi-

FIGHT CALLED THORN
IN SIDE OF PROGRESS

Editorial Points Out Neglect and Starving Condition of State Institutions.
Must Meet Needs.

Macon, March 7.—(Special.)—The controversy over the removal of the state capital from Atlanta to Macon, which for the last ten years has been a thorn in the side of the political progress of Georgia and which, in a sense, has served to divide the state into factions, preventing the passage of important legislation, appears to be at an end.

In a signed article on the editorial page of the Macon Daily Telegraph in Thursday morning's issue, Nelson M.
Shipp, one of the editorial writers
of the Telegraph, makes the flat declaration that "the fight and effort of Macon to secure the state capital should not be carried further," and points out that "the hour has struck
when a larger measure of agreement and unity is vitally necessary to the life, the health, the safety of our commonwealth."

The writer calls attention to the recent election to the United States senate of a south Georgia man, Judge Walter F. George, as a factor that indicates that section of the state is beginning to receive its due; the sore neglect and starving condition
of state institutions; the needed revision and reorganization of the state prison system; tax problems that must be settled and solved and other things that show that the time has come when there must be a greater degree of harmony in Georgia before the meeting of the next legislature in order that the crying needs of the state
may be met.

Bond Success Doubtful.
The heavy burden that would be placed on Macon and Bibb county by voting of a $3,000,000 bond issue to provide for a new capital also is referred to and doubt is expressed that the people of the county would vote
the bonds. Even though they were assured they could have the capital.

Mr. Shipp closes his article with the following appeal:
"Let Atlanta keep the capital, and God bless her. Let Atlanta join Macon
—let Macon join Atlanta—in company with all other cities, towns and country sides in the effort to make Georgia really and truly the empire
state of the south."

The article, under the caption "If
This Be the Heart," follows:
"The fight and effort of Macon to secure the state capital should not be carried further, but first, parenthetically speaking—

"Down on the courthouse lawn the other day, they were selling out the household goods of some Georgia citizen. One felt like calling a policeman; it looked as though a crime were taking place. It would be interesting to know just what the former owner of that furniture thought about the philosophy of life
in general (in Georgia) and the academic question of bonds in particular.

Only Necessary.
"It would not require a very close student of affairs to understand that the people of the various sections and the members of the different factions in this state should recognize that the hour has struck when a larger measure of agreement and unity is vitally necessary to the life,
the health, the safety and the safety of our commonwealth. Certainly, the prosperity—a well-worn word—is in-valued.

"For this reason, if no other, the selection and election of a south Georgia man to the United States senate was somewhat inspiring. It had not been the custom nor the PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

A Radical Change Proposed.

"Let Well Enough Alone."

An ordinance (which we gave yesterday) has been introduced in Council proposing radical change in our Public School System.
With one trenchant blow it proposes to wipe out
the well-considered ordinance on that subject and substitute another in its place.
It provides that there shall be twelve members of the Board of Education, elected by the Council for five years. They are now elected—four for two years, four for four years and four for six years.
Wisdom and experience teaches a familiar with education, that the last is much the best plan.
The next change is in the words following: "Said Board of Education shall have the control and management of the Public Schools of the city, subject to the approval of the Mayor and Council as hereinafter provided. They shall also have authority to fix the compensation of the Superintendent and teachers,
subject to the approval of the Mayor and Council."

This last change virtually makes the Board consist of twenty-seven men instead of twelve and allows
a majority of it, little concerned with the subject.
If it is adopted, we can see no necessity for the additional twelve men. Let the Council discharge its duties.

TURKS WILL DRAFT REPLY TO ALLIES

Rejection of Peace Treaty Causes Discouragement
in Britain—More Long Arguments Seen.

Constantinople, March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Turkey's rejection of the Lausanne peace treaty, which was not unexpected, has been received calmly in both foreign and native circles in Constantinople. The belief persists that it is still possible to reach a middle ground agreement toward peace.

The Ankara government will now proceed to draft a reply to the allies,
in which it will continue counter proposals within the limitations established by the assembly's debates and Monday night's resolutions passed by the assembly, which demands strict adherence to the principles of the national pact on all matters affecting Turkey's absolute independence.

The situation apparently has settled down for an indefinite period of negotiations.

ACTION OF TURKS DISCOURAGING

LONDON, March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The announcement that the Turkish grand national assembly at Ankara had instructed the government to undertake fresh peace negotiations with the allies for the purpose of having the Lausanne treaty confirmed, has caused a note of discouragement
among the British diplomats in London who fear that negotiations based upon what they term the inordinate demands of the national pact would prove futile.

These officials now anticipate further tedious conferences.

While Great Britain is taking every measure of prudence toward military and naval defense in the zone of the straits in the event of failure to reach a final agreement, it is believed that military coercion will not be necessary. Officials here consider that the Ankara government's rejection of the treaty is intended more than anything
as a gesture of Turkey's intransigence for home consumption.

May Compromise.
While Lord Curzon, the foreign secretary, has repeatedly declared that the Lausanne document represents the irreducible minimum of the allied terms it is believed in quarters familiar with the exigencies of the Near East situation and with Great Britain's pressing economic need of retiring from Constantinople, that the allies
are prepared to accept a reasonable compromise on disputed points.

The majority of the British people, staggered under the great burden of taxation engendered by the war are generally conceding to the necessity of compromise on disputed points.
The government realizes the Kemalists have 250,000 well equipped and disciplined troops ready for instant action,
which the combined forces of Great Britain, France and Italy in the area of the straits total less than 25,000.

Atlanta Masons Deplore Action In Payne Appeal

Arrest of Charter of Lebanon Lodge Is Indorsed at Club Meeting.

Resolutions indorsing the action of Grand Master Joe P. Bowdoin, of Georgia Freemasonry, in arresting
the charter of Lebanon lodge, No.
635, and deploring the lodge's recent decision to ask a pardon for W. L.
Payne, detective serving a term to bribery, were passed by the Atlanta Masonic club Wednesday.

The charter of Lebanon lodge was arrested and its members and officers suspended pending action late this year of the Georgia grand lodge, when the membership met in its halls Monday morning preparatory to appearing before the prison commission. Officials of the lodge had previously announced that Lebanon lodge had conducted a trial of Payne, a member of the organization, and had decided "he was convicted on the testimony of a notorious negro bootlegger."

Payne's acquittal in the lodge trial followed.

CHIEF OF POLICE ASKS FOR CHANCE TO PROVE ABILITY

If He Fails, Will Resign
of Own Volition, According to Letter From His Attorney.

COURT HEARING MAY BE POSTPONED AGAIN

Petition for Injunction Against Committee, Set for Friday, May Be Checked Again.

If the Atlanta newspapers will support Chief of Police James L. Beavers
in his administration of police affairs until he has had a reasonable time to demonstrate that he can efficiently operate the department, he will be glad to resign of his own volition, Attorney George C. Spence, counsel for the chief, declared Wednesday.

The offer of Chief Beavers was conveyed to The Constitution by Attorney Spence in a letter prompted by an editorial Wednesday morning on "An Alarming Situation," which dealt with the local police situation.

"If the three newspapers of the city would loyally support Chief Beavers
in his attempt to wrest his department from the politicians and put it upon a clean, efficient business-like basis, the police controversy would end
for good," Attorney Spence declared.

"Present Attack Beaten."
The present attack upon Chief Beavers is beaten, but it will recur
and constantly recur unless it is determined that the chief has the loyal support of the men and women of Atlanta who want the laws enforced, and who are not concerned in the petty selfishness of a lot of ward heelers," the communication read.

Hearing of the litigation between Chief Beavers and the police committee, which was postponed last week until Friday, March 9, may be further delayed due to cases on the calendar
taking precedence in Judge Bell's division of Fulton superior court, it was indicated Wednesday at the courthouse. If the Beavers petition for injunction against the committee is not reached it will have to be checked for three or four days, according to court attaches.

Spence's Letter.
The text of the communication from George C. Spence, counsel for Beavers, follows:

Editor Constitution: "I have read with interest your editorial entitled
'An Alarming Situation,' in re. the police department.

"Your concluding paragraph, in which you use the clause 'wherever the responsibility for direct law enforcement rests,' brings immediately forward the entire question which has for some time agitated the press
and the people of the city touching our police forces.

"Why should there be any question as to where responsibility rests for the direction of law enforcement? The chief of police throughout the great cities of the United States is the recognized executive officer for the enforcement of the law and the protection of the people and property
therein. But in the city of Atlanta, for the purpose of removing all question, in the year 1915 the legislature amended the charter for the purpose of making the chief of police chief in fact as well as in name. The city council immediately afterwards passed an ordinance expressly prohibiting the members of the police board from
in any way giving direction to police affairs and providing that the chief of police alone should be the executive officer of the department.

"These laws are still in the city code, and there should be no question as to where responsibility should rest for the enforcement of the laws.

"Exercise Supervision."
Notwithstanding that Chief Beavers is the chief of police and that his powers and duties are well defined by law, for years there has been an attempt on the part of the members of the police commission, and lately
of the police committee, to seize and exercise more or less direct supervision of the operation of the police forces. The control of the police department seems to be a temptation which all politicians avariciously seek.

Secretary Proposes Fire

estry Development.

Washington, March 7.—A national move to conserve and develop American timber supplies was urged today
by Secretary Wallace, of the department of agriculture, and Hugh B. Baker, executive secretary of the American Paper and Pulp Association, in opening hearings of the special senate committee on reforestation.

A few witnesses will be heard here by the committee during the next few days and next month it will begin a tour of all timber regions of the country to make exhaustive investigations preliminary to recommendations to congress.

A graphic view of the nation's timber and lumber supply was given by Secretary Wallace to the committee, which is headed by Senator McNary, republican, Oregon.

"There are extensive unsatisfied demands for timber products, for dwellings and manufacturers," said Wallace, "while the per capita consumption of paper has doubled in the last ten years, the country is suffering now from a shortage of timber and its products and the demands will not decrease. A national forest policy should bring about continued timber growing."

Could Double Revenues.
"When such a plan is put into execution here there is not the slightest doubt in my mind but that Atlanta's revenues could be doubled. At the same time property assessments could be reduced from 70 to 60 per cent of its actual market value and the tax rate lowered from $1.50 to $1 on the $100."

Mayor Sims called attention of the delegation which included former Governor John M. Nathan, who acted as chief spokesman; John W. Grant, Henry DeGue, Morris Brandon, Ivan
E. Allen, E. M. Hozine, S. E. Davidson and others, to certain concrete examples of under-assessments on property in the centralized and business sections that are now on the city's tax books.

"There is a certain office building near the heart of Atlanta," continued
the mayor, "which could easily be sold for $1,500,000, yet it appears on the tax books with only $600,000 assessment against it. This same situation is true of a certain hotel which, if sold, would bring $2,000,000, yet it only pays taxes on $600,000. There are many others I could enumerate,
but I think I have made myself clear.

Case of Home Owner.
"On the other hand I know of a man residing in Inman Park who recently paid $3,000 for a little home.
A check of the tax books reveal that he is assessed in the sum of $2,500.
That is an example of what I want to convey to you gentlemen. It shows that business property in many instances is assessed at a value far in excess of its actual value."

Washington, March 7.—The Portu-

ASSESS PROPERTY
AT MARKET VALUE, MAYOR PROPOSES

Sims Asserts That If This

Able to Lower Tax Rate
to $1 on the $100.

Assessment by the board of tax assessors of all property in Atlanta, whether central or residential, on its actual market value, instead of individual returns is the plan to be supported by Mayor Walter A. Sims,
it was learned Thursday.

If this change is made, the mayor believes, municipal revenue will be decidedly increased, the city tax rate lowered from $1.50 to $1 on the $100,
and the basis of assessment reduced from 70 to 60 per cent.

This proposed method of securing valuation of property for taxation purposes was discussed in detail by Mayor Sims with a delegation of property owners representing business area realty who visited his office Wednesday.

"My equalization plan," asserted Mayor Sims, "is to change the present system of assessment and base all city property for assessment on its actual market value, instead of permitting individuals to give in returns on property which they themselves appraise, but which could not be purchased in some instances for double or

Alleged Bunco Artist, Wanted Here, Captured

A. R. Thompson, alias A. R. Tur-

in Los Angeles, Calif., on February 26,
on information furnished by Solicitor
John A. Boykin, of Fulton county, ac-

Atlanta authorities Wednesday.

Solicitor General Lee Woolwine, of Los Angeles, caused the arrest of Thompson along with 12 other alleged bunco operators taken into custody
during the same raid.

Want Prisoner Held.
A certified copy of the indictment returned against Thompson in Atlanta in 1921 has been furnished Los An-

Thompson be held under bond of at least $25,000.

H. M. Graham, postal inspector, formerly of the Atlanta division, aided in the arrest of Thompson, according to Atlanta authorities. Bert Donaldson, of Atlanta, had aided in the chase of Thompson, and in company with Inspector Graham almost captured
him several months ago in Asheville, North Carolina.

Thompson, according to Donaldson,
has amassed an immense fortune through bunco deals. He is owner of an estate near Asheville, N. C., valued at over $100,000, and it was here that Donaldson and Inspector Graham crowded him so close on one occasion.

An Honest Statement About Sweet Potatoes

TO THE BUYING PUBLIC:

A situation almost acute in its nature has arisen in connection with Georgia's sweet potato crop.

Thousands upon thousands of bushels of Porto Rican Yams, and a few other varieties, were raised in Georgia during the past season.

Sweet potatoes were turned to as a money crop by thousands of farmers in Georgia when the boll weevil made its ravishes on our cotton crop. A tremendous crop has been grown and gathered, and the farmers of this State are entitled to a just remuneration for their work—entitled to fair consideration, and to the co-operative assistance of the buying public.

Unfortunately, in many sections, due to lack of definite and correct knowledge in curing methods, some of the potato crop has not been handled in such a way as to insure its keeping for any great length of time. As a consequence thousands upon thousands of bushels—carload upon carload—of Georgia sweet potatoes are now being offered on the market. Their sale, just at this time, due to the condition of the potatoes themselves, is almost a necessity, in order that the farmers of Georgia may realize even a moderate amount for their labors.

The L. W. Rogers Company is doing all it can to help farmers dispose of their sweet potato crop. We are being besieged daily with requests from growers all over the State to let them ship us many carloads. Of course, we can use only a limited amount. We wish we could handle the entire crop of every farmer in Georgia. They are deserving of it.

And while we are selling a great amount of sweet potatoes, using every care to sort and grade practically all of the crop that reaches us, we still find that occasionally a few bad potatoes may slip by. But we are doing the best we can—not only to help the farmer dispose of about the only money crop he has just now—but to insure the best of potatoes for our customers.

We are handling this crop at this time at practically no profit to ourselves. We are standing even a loss in some cases—due to deterioration and other causes.

OUR PURPOSE IN THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS TO CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO THIS SITUATION—TO URGE UPON THE BUYING PUBLIC TO BUY AND EAT MORE SWEET POTATOES.

IN FACT, LET'S HAVE A SWEET POTATO WEEK—OR A MONTH. THEY ARE AN EXCELLENT FOOD—THEY CAN BE PREPARED IN A DOZEN DELICIOUS WAYS.

WHO WOULD SWAP A SWEET, DELICIOUS, JUICY, BAKED POTATO, JUST FROM THE OVEN, WITH GOOD FRESH BUTTER MELTED UPON IT, FOR ANY SORT OF A DISH?

WHAT IS MORE TEMPTING OR PALATABLE THAN FRIED SWEET POTATOES FOR BREAKFAST? WHAT IS RICHER, MORE PALATABLE, OR MORE INVITING THAN A DELICIOUS PIECE OF POTATO CUSTARD—OR A BIG POT PIE, OR A FINE POTATO PUDDING? OH, THERE ARE MANY WAYS IN WHICH THEY ARE DELICIOUS. BUY THEM AND USE THEM.

And while your purchases of sweet potatoes just now will mean but little to the Rogers Company, it will mean a GREAT DEAL to the farmers of Georgia.

In order to help the farmers of Georgia and to offer you a good product, we are now selling

ROSWELL ROAD PAVING CONTRACT IS AWARDED

MacDougald Bid for One Mile Stretch of Concrete Is Accepted.

Contract for laying a one-mile stretch of concrete paving on Roswell road between Buckhead and Powers Ferry road was awarded to the MacDougald Construction company, whose bid was approximately $50,000, at the regular March meeting of the county commissioners Wednesday afternoon. Work is expected to begin within a few days. The county has already undertaken paving with its own forces a portion of the road, beginning at Powers Ferry road and working northward. Contract for the remainder of the highway, which will provide a smooth-surface pavement from Buckhead to Roswell, will be let later in the year.

The sum of $5,000 was appropriated by the commission to the convention fund of the Kiwanis Club of Atlanta, which is confronted with the task of entertaining nearly 10,000 Kiwanians

from every section of the country in June.

The appropriation was made on motion of Commissioner Edwin Johnson after a large delegation of prominent Kiwanians, headed by George F. Eubanks, appeared, included in the delegation were President Sherrard Kennedy, Charlie Miller, Frank T. Reynolds, Walter Barnwell, Henry Heinz, E. J. Perkinson and Lee Hagen. The Kiwanians told the board that the club has expended $10,000 within the past three years at the Home for the Friendless, thus taking care of children that probably otherwise would have been a financial burden on the county.

Ed H. Inman appeared in the interest of manufacturers and others having business concerns on Wall street, and asked the county to pay the city's part of $1,512 toward the paving of that thoroughfare, stating that the city is without funds for the purpose. The request was granted.

Mrs. Ashby to Speak.

"Healing Power of Prayer" is the subject of an address to be delivered by Mrs. Rose M. Ashby, secretary of the International New Thought alliance, to the public at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in Edison hall, Peachtree and Ellis streets.

A necessary part of your diet

VARIETY in foods is essential, of course, but in providing variety do not overlook the importance of nourishment.

Crisp, delicious Grape-Nuts is a highly nourishing cereal food in unusually compact form. It supplies the rich nutrition of wheat and malted barley, including the mineral elements of these splendid grains, without which health and strength cannot be maintained.

Grape-Nuts, with good milk, is a complete food. Economical, too, because a moderate amount provides unusual nourishment.

Evangeline Booth To Speak Twice Here on Sunday

Leaders of Salvation Army
Will Be Here for Five Days' Congress.

The Salvation Army congress, which opens Saturday for a five-day session, will bring to Atlanta chief officials of the organization, who will be heard in a number of public addresses, especially on Sunday. A dozen different Atlanta pulpits will be filled by visiting officers of high rank at the morning and evening services.

Chief of the visitors in public interest will be Commander Evangeline Booth, who speaks Sunday morning at Wesley Memorial, her subject being, "The Broken Link." She will occupy the pulpit at the regular 11 o'clock service. At 7:30 in the evening, she will speak at the Baptist tabernacle on the subject, "The Midnight Tragedy." Monday evening's lecture will be delivered in the Baptist tabernacle at 8 o'clock. The commander will have as her theme, "The World's Greatest Romance," a history of the Salvationist movement and its wonderful success. Miss Booth will be introduced by Attorney-General George M. Napier, of Georgia.

A meeting for Tuesday afternoon has been arranged at the request of Mrs. T. T. Stevens, president of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, in order to give the women of the city the opportunity of hearing one of the greatest of living women. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock in the Central Congregational church.

Sunday assignments for other leaders follow: At 11 o'clock Colonel Joseph Hammond, of New York, Salvation Army evangelist, speaks at St. Luke's M. E. church; Brigadier Sampson Hodges, of New York, secretary for supplies and purchases of the army, at St. Paul's M. E. church; Staff Captain Bertram Rodda, of New York, educational secretary, at Inman Park Baptist church; Colonel William Evans, of Sebring, Fla., at the First Methodist church.

At the evening services, Major William Halpin, of New York, prison secretary, speaks at the Capitol Avenue Baptist church; Colonel Joseph Wilgery, of Memphis, speaks at the East Point Presbyterian church; Colonel William Evans speaks at Trinity Methodist church; Colonel Joseph Hammond speaks at Inman Park Methodist church; Henry Millans, of New York, speaks at Wesley Memorial church, and Colonel E. J. Parker, secretary for men's social work, of New York, speaks at Westminster Presbyterian church.

COCA-COLA BOTTLERS WILL ADJOURN TODAY

Best Methods of Advertising and Handling Trade Discussed Wednesday.

Better service and increased sales were the keynotes sounded Wednesday afternoon at the second sales session of the sales and advertising conference called by the Coca-Cola company for coca-cola bottlers in the United States, which is being held at the company plant on North avenue. The convention adjourns today.

Following a barbecue given by the Crystal Carbonic laboratory, the bottlers convened for the afternoon session. Harrison Jones called the meeting to order.

D. S. Hawkes, manager of the Coca-Cola company, of London, Ontario, Canada, made the initial address. He spoke on "What We Have to Sell the Dealer and What It Will Do For Him."

Praises Coca-Cola.

Mr. Hawkes explained the merits of the beverage, which he classed as the soft drink that had withstood all substitutes for 30 years. He stated that coca-cola gave to the dealer large profits, net returns being 80 per cent greater than other soft drink products.

"Service and Supply" was the subject of Alex Price, manager of the Coca-Cola company of Windsor, Ontario, Canada. Mr. Price stated that every opportunity to secure a customer should be utilized and that one of the chief means of securing customers was by efficient salesmen. He stressed the value of co-operation between bottlers and dealers, declaring that "co-operation was the greatest force against competition."

Rules for trade analysis are governed by the population, industrial and financial conditions, class and occupation of people, place and methods of dealers, estimated sales and advertising problems, according to C.

F. Roland, sales and advertising manager of the company for the Dominion of Canada.

The bottlers were entertained Wednesday evening at a dinner party at the Forreth, the entire house being bought for the occasion.

Harrison Jones, who is presiding over the meeting, made the opening address Wednesday morning, following an introduction by C. V. Rainwater. Mr. Jones spoke on "Blazing the Trail."

Others who spoke at the morning session are Dr. Charles E. Casper, professor of chemistry of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy; Harold Hirsch, general counsel of the company, and Mr. Rainwater.

One of the most unique advertising schemes ever staged in Atlanta at any convention or conference is shown in the erection of "Typical Town" in the conference hall, the purpose of which is to show correct and incorrect methods in display advertising.

On either side of the main streets are grocery stores and wicker stands. One side displays modern, up-to-date stores and the other the non-progressive stores. The distinction is drawn in the ways the windows are dressed and the wares displayed.

CLUB'S NATIONAL HEAD WILL VISIT ATLANTA LIONS

El S. Vaught, Oklahoma City, Okla., president of the International Lions' club, will arrive in Atlanta the first of next week on his first official visit to the south. Atlanta Lions have mailed invitations to all southeastern clubs to visit Atlanta and be present at the regular luncheon Tuesday when Mr. Vaught will speak at the Chamber of Commerce cafe at 1 o'clock.

Already a large number of acceptance have been received by J. R. Regans, president of the local Lions. It was announced. Following the luncheon Tuesday a banquet will be given at the Capital City club at which time a conference on Lionism will be held and reports read that are expected to mean much for the advancement of the organization in the south.

What Are These Bonds That Pay 7%?

A MAN came into our office the other day and told us that he was interested in first mortgage real estate bonds, especially because of their liberal interest rate and fine safety record. "But," he said, "I really don't know much about these bonds, how they are made, what special safeguards surround them, what the function of the banker is with regard to them. Frankly, I want to know their fine points, their inner-most workings, before I invest."

We have published a booklet which was written to supply just the information which this investor demanded. Because we wanted to convey a clear and complete understanding of real estate bonds, this booklet deals with the "inside story" of these securities, giving details which the average outsider would probably never think of. And because we wanted the booklet to be read, we wrote it in as interesting, conversational style as we could command, and supplied illustrations. A number of newspapers have already published the material in this booklet, by arrangement with us. The coupon will bring to you, free and without obligation, a copy of "The Premier Investment."

LAST PLEAS ARE MADE FOR CONDEMNED BOYS

Father Appears Before Prison Commission in Effort to Save Them.

The state prison commission spent Wednesday hearing a petition for clemency for Ralph and George Baker, brothers of Walker county, sentenced to hang on March 10.

Before the commission, pleading desperately for the lives of his sons, appeared R. D. Baker, their father. Mr. Baker has spent everything he owned in the effort to save his boys' lives, having carried the case through the Walker county superior court and on up to the state supreme court, without success. He is now making his last effort before the prison commission.

The boys' mother did not come to Atlanta for the hearing because, it is said, they could only afford one railroad ticket.

It is claimed on behalf of the boys that Ralph Baker is but 15 years old, and that he was drunk at the time of the killing of W. W. Martin, 70-year-old deputy sheriff. George, the older brother, 19 years of age, is it is claimed, of unsound mind. A physician's affidavit was introduced in which it was declared that the doctor had known George Baker for several years and considered him mentally unsound. It was also stated that the grandfather had been an epileptic.

The killing of Martin took place at the railroad depot at Durham, Ga., where Martin had gone to meet his daughter. The Baker boys arrived on the same train and, it is said, believed that Martin had a warrant for their arrest. The older boy, it is said, got into an altercation with Martin, and then the younger one, believing his brother was being attacked, shot the deputy.

The evidence in support of the plea for mercy was presented by O. N. Chambers and R. Y. W. Glenn, attorneys for the Bakers, while E. R. Taylor, solicitor-general of the state, superior court, and James M. Rosser, who assisted in the prosecution, opposed it.

The solicitor contested the question of age of Ralph Baker, saying he was 10 instead of 15 years old, as claimed. The commission took the case under advisement.

ROTARY GOVERNOR VISITS WEST POINT

West Point, Ga., March 7.—(Special.)—The weekly luncheon of the West Point Rotary club occurred on Wednesday at the Charles hotel, being held one day in advance owing to the visit of Mr. Porter Pierpont, of Savannah, governor of the 25th Rotary district.

The visit of the governor of the district is an annual affair and his address is always a big feature, and on Wednesday local Rotary members were much enthused and delighted.

Incidentally, the governor went in to the Rotary situation in West Point, taking up important business matters coming within his official jurisdiction.

Canning Plants Asked by Heads Of Many Towns

Great Interest Is Being Shown in the Plans of C. R. Warde.

Following publication in The Constitution of Wednesday, of the announcement of C. R. Warde, California canning executive, that he is planning the formation of a Georgia corporation to build and operate a string of canning plants in this state, Mr. Warde has been flooded with telegrams from all parts of the state.

These come chiefly from towns and various civic organizations, urging that a plant be located in their respective counties and offering every co-operation in the securing of the desired produce for canning and other features of the proposal.

From Fitzgerald, Ga., comes a telegram signed by C. A. Newcomer, president Chamber of Commerce; W. A. Adams, president Lions Club, and J. H. Mayes, president Kiwanis club, which reads as follows:

"Fitzgerald offers thousands of five, ten, twenty, forty and fifty acre tracts, ideal for location of your project. Population eight thousand. Three thousand acres already producing raw material you require. Desire conference."

The Kiwanis club at Ocala has also wired Mr. Warde asking that he meet them as early as possible to confer on the possibility of locating a canning plant there. Many other wires of similar import have been received.

Mr. Warde, who is at present stopping at Georgian Terrace, is now busily engaged in the initial work for the formation of his corporation. He stated Wednesday that he was much encouraged over the prospects for his enterprise and was particularly delighted by the spirit of enterprise evidenced by these telegrams from all parts of the state. It will, however, be impossible for him to leave Atlanta for the next few days. He will make arrangements as soon as possible to meet as many of these people as possible and will be glad to do everything in his power to accept their offers of co-operation in the million dollar canning concern he is now forming.

GIRL GIVEN FREEDOM

Held Not Guilty of Violating Automobile Law.

Miss Kate Hudson, 16 years old, of 15 Whately street, was freed when arraigned Wednesday in municipal court on charges of violating the automobile law after she had shown that the car in which she was riding was not under her control when it struck and injured W. M. Tesler, merchant, of 79 South Broad street, who was responsible for the charges against her.

According to Miss Hudson, she was seated in the car of her brother-in-law and the brakes became loosened. The car was in gear and as it began to move down Whately street the motor started. Not knowing how to operate the machine, she said, she merely managed to keep it confined to the streets until it struck a bad hole. The charge was dismissed.

U. S. AGENTS DESTROY 91 COMPLETE STILL

Prohibition Force in Georgia Confiscates Property Worth $68,280.

Property for the manufacture or sale of illicit liquor valued at $68,280 was destroyed by federal prohibition agents in Georgia during the month of February, according to the monthly report of Director Fred D. Dismuke, made public Wednesday.

A gain in actual results over the same period of last year was shown on every count of the report, and in some classes of enforcement work the officers almost doubled the record for that period last year.

Following is an itemized report for the month, with figures immediately following for the same period of last year: Complete stills captured and destroyed, 91; last year, 65; incomplete stills captured and destroyed, 170; last year, 142; worms, 81; last year, 41; galleons whiskey destroyed, 2,395; last year, 508; gallons mash destroyed, 256,785; last year, 175,000; fermenters confiscated, 1,527; last year, 1,500; automobiles seized, 9; last year, 8; value of cars confiscated, $5,500; last year, $2,100; total value of property seized and destroyed, $68,280; last year, $37,175; total value of property seized, but not destroyed, $5,700; last year, $2,100; number of arrests, 74; last year, 49; number of prosecutions, 125; last year, 110.

This record, Assistant Director Hahr states, was made despite diminished number of violations and smaller field force than last year, and indicates increased efficiency on the part of field agents, most of whom are the same men who took part in the work of last year.

Mr. Warde, who is at present stopping at Georgian Terrace, is now busily engaged in the initial work for the formation of his corporation. MOTHER OF YOUTH KILLED BY TRAIN RECEIVES $14,500

A verdict of $14,500 damages against the Central of Georgia railway was awarded Mrs. L. J. Newby, of East Point, for the death of her son, Linwood Newby, who met his death when struck by a train, in Fulton superior court Wednesday.

Judge E. D. Thomas tried the suit. According to Mrs. Newby, her son was killed in May 1921, at the Cleburne avenue crossing in East Point when the automobile truck he was driving was struck by a Central of Georgia train. She was represented by Attorneys Lowry and Reuben Arnold.

AUXILIARY TO RAISE MONEY FOR CHARITIES

The colored auxiliary of the Associated Charities, Dr. R. H. Singleton, president, and A. T. Walden, chairman of the finance committee, will launch a campaign March 11, running for 10 days, to raise $2,000 for Associated Charities work in this city.

Twenty groups, under efficient leaders, will solicit the colored people of Atlanta for donations. Much interest is being manifested in this campaign and the outlook is that the money will be raised, it is said.

High's Special Ten Days' March Selling Campaign on Fashions

THE Sale started out with the department crowded to capacity with the prettiest, daintiest, loveliest fashions that New York had to offer. And New York knew no lower prices than those she quoted us. Then we marked them on the narrowest possible margin. No wonder crowds of women have been here in the past few days and hundreds of garments have been sold! But so splendid were our assortments to begin with that selection is still good.

Still Plenty of Specially Priced

Silk Dresses, $24.40

THEY'RE delightfully pretty things—and so many styles are there for you to choose from. There are dresses of Canton crepe with pleated panels and beads and bright braid trimming. There are dresses of dark Canton combined with vari-colored Paisley. There are dresses of flat crepe in pretty basque styles, with ribbon frills on the skirts and some fluffy little taffeta frocks. One dress has a deep Bertha yoke of Venetian lace that comes down over the shoulders; another has an apron effect made up of closely set fluted taffeta frills—there are ever so many pretty models. Colors are Lanvin green, grey, brown, taupe, copen, navy and black.

Dresses, Special, $19.75

—Pretty little dresses of Canton crepe, taffeta, velva, figured crepe and figured crepe combined with Canton. Basque styles, sports styles and straight styles—a big variety from which to choose.

Dresses, Special, $14.75

—Printed silk crepe dresses, and you'd take them to be much higher in price. Some of these are hemstitched, some have net collars and cuffs, some have cornered berthas and most have fancy sleeves.

There's a Brisk, Breezy Air About These

Sports Wraps, $14.75 to $79.50

THEY have an air of life and action that appeals and allures. When one is about these wraps, one experiences a definite desire to slip one on and be off in quest of good times. For they speak the language of golf links, of tennis courts, steamer decks and motor trips. And when one converts that desire into a decision, then it is that one finds that these wraps are delightfully little in price!

—They're of soft, downy camel's hair and sportive wool plaids. Some of them have jaunty capes that go from sleeve to sleeve. Some go clear down to the very tip of your dress hem; others are short and very, very saucy. Some have buckled straps to confine fullness of sleeves and backs, others are utterly disdainful of anything like belts. They're in soft grays, tans and blues.

Brytonia Capes—$34.75 to $43.75

—These capes are made into pretty, graceful things with large crushed collars which fasten in front with novelty plaque clasps. Some of these collars end in long pendant tassels in back; the capes at $43.75 have their collars outlined with monkey fur.

—These capes are in black. They're lined throughout with silk peau de cygne or silk crepe.

Special Sale of $3.50 and $3.95

Japanese Kimonos, $2.89

TAKEN right out of our regular stocks and reduced for the Special Ten Days' March Selling Campaign. They're lovely kimonos. They're of a good quality of Japanese cotton crepe, made in the regulation Japanese style. The backs, over the shoulders and the fronts of these kimonos are elaborately embroidered in floral, stork and rose designs. Good range of colors, too—copen blue, red, lavender, tan, rose and gold.

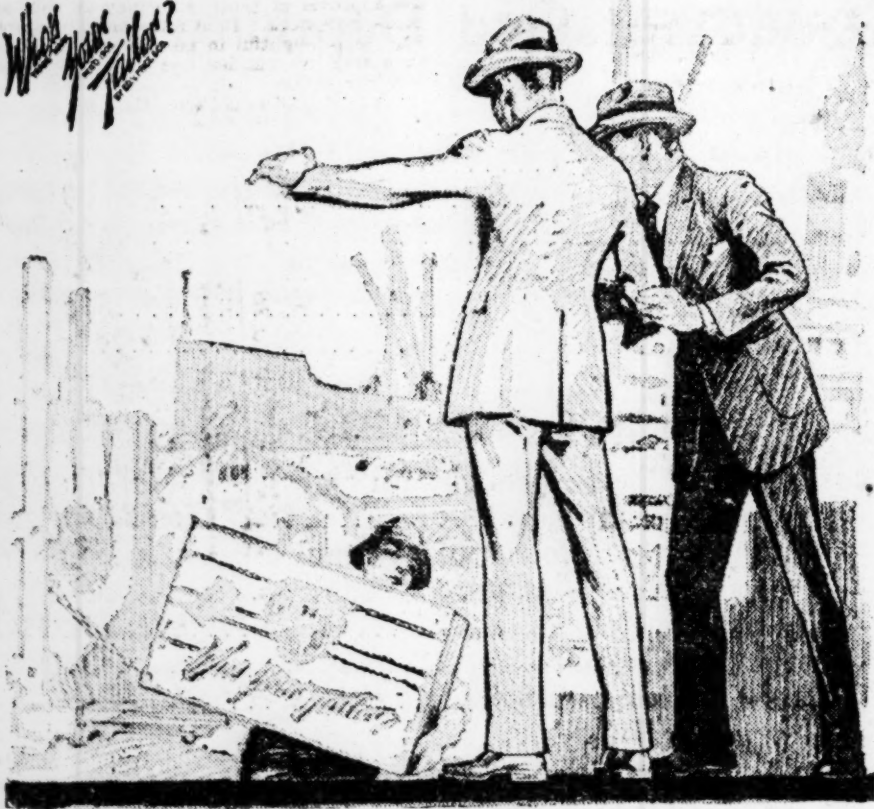

25c and 35c Linen

'KERCHIEFS

Special 17c

—Men's and women's pure linen handkerchiefs. The men's 'kerchiefs are of pure linen with hemstitched borders—full size. The women's are of fine, pure linen with hand-embroidered corners and hemstitched hems. Lucky to get 'em for 17c.

They're sure to ask
"What's that?"

Will clothes come down in price?

Every man who keeps posted on industrial conditions knows that the price trend is upward. The past is buried. Wisdom and economy say, "Buy in the present market."

NINTH WARD LEAGUE MEETS FRIDAY NIGHT

Members of the Ninth Ward Development league will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of G. C. Adams, 72 Sterling street to discuss business matters of importance. All committee chairmen are requested to be present.

PRESIDENTS' CLUB HOST TO GRIFFIN MEN

In keeping with its policy of entertaining leading citizens of other Georgia cities, the Presidents' club will have as its guests at its monthly dinner on March 15 a group of prominent men from Griffin. Invitations will be mailed members of the club at an early date.

ELKS' MEMBERSHIP INCREASED 1,000

Large Number of Applications Will Be Acted Upon at Meeting of Lodge No. 78 Tonight.

With several more workers to be heard from, the total results of the present membership drive of the Atlanta lodge of Elks has just passed the thousand mark, reports made Wednesday show.

At the regular meeting of the lodge tonight a large number of these names, secured in the final wind-up of the campaign on Tuesday, will be acted upon. This meeting is to be one of the most important of the year in Elks circles, and a tremendous attendance is anticipated.

Much elation was expressed on Wednesday by lodge officials over the outcome of the day's drive on Tuesday. In spite of the handicaps of bad weather in the afternoon, the special teams set new high marks for themselves. A number have exceeded their quotas with much to spare.

"We are exceedingly gratified both by the very loyal work of the members of our committee and by the hearty response accorded our efforts by the public," stated Judge L. P. McClelland, exalted ruler of the lodge, after Wednesday's report meeting.

"We are not over our quota of 5,000 yet, but we still have a couple of months to go before the convention. I fully expect Atlanta lodge No. 78 to face the convention with more than the number of members we had at first hoped to secure."

The team of Turner Fitten was shown well out in the lead when Wednesday's figures were announced. This division has been responsible for 253 applications so far. Ed P. Bond's team is running second, with 127, and others still to be reported. Barney Bernard comes third with 121. Teams captained by P. L. Provano and B. H. Johnson are also making exceptional showings.

Additional applications are still being received, and will receive attention as late as 6 o'clock Thursday night.

Atlanta Chamber Will Send Float To Fort Valley

Effort Will Be Made to Interest North Georgia Apple Growers in Festival Plan.

A large float will be sent to Fort Valley by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce to take part in the peach festival to be held there March 22. It was decided at a meeting of the board of directors of the chamber Wednesday. The directors declared that the float would be made as attractive as possible and arrangements for its construction were started Wednesday by J. E. Addicks, assistant secretary.

A number of Atlanta business houses have consented to send floats to take part in the celebration, it was announced, and it is expected that many more will take similar action.

Apple Festival.

Following the discussion of the peach festival it was decided by the directors to interest growers in the apple sections in the "festival idea," so that each year a fitting celebration would be held in honor of this Georgia product.

A. C. Newell, president of the chamber, was authorized by the directors to appoint a committee to work in the interest of the proposed central park. The committee will be named within the next few days and will co-operate with the Atlanta Realty Board.

An invitation will be extended to the Georgia Press association by the chamber to hold its next convention in Atlanta. A delightful program of entertainment will be arranged.

Prize for Schools.

A prize will be given by the chamber to the city school having the largest attendance of parents at the "house warming" to be held during the early part of May. The education and school committee of the chamber will select a suitable prize.

Congratulations were extended the automobile association for its success in staging the recent automobile show.

Directors also announced that it had been decided to send 500 copies of the City Builder, a chamber of commerce publication, to the senior grades of the high schools in the city.

LEGION COMMANDER WILL REVIEW CADETS

Colonel Owsley Guest of Georgia Tech—To Address Mass Meeting.

National Commander Alvin Owsley, of the American Legion, who will visit Atlanta on March 14, will review the R. O. T. C. cadets of Georgia Tech that afternoon, it was announced Wednesday by Major A. L. Pendleton, commandant at Georgia Tech, and chairman of the reception committee which is functioning with other committees in arranging for the entertainment of Commander Owsley.

The Tech band, composed of 65 pieces, will accompany the reception committee to the station to meet Commander Owsley upon his arrival at 11:30 o'clock next Wednesday morning.

The band will also be on hand when Commander Owsley reviews the 1,500 cadets at Tech. Major Pendleton stated that every cadet at Tech would be present for the review, and that Commander Owsley would not doubt be given opportunity to address the students for a few minutes.

The review of the cadets at Tech is one of the many features being planned for Commander Owsley's entertainment while in Atlanta. His visit is in the interest of creating good will for the legion, and during his stay he will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting to which the public will be invited.

Asa G. Candler is chairman of the general committee conducting the good will campaign and making plans for entertaining Colonel Owsley, and a number of subcommittees will be formed in the next few days to take care of various phases of the work.

Serving with Major Pendleton on the reception committee are B. P. Gambrell, commander of Post No. 1, and Evan P. Howell, commander of Post No. 78. The two posts will be host to the national commander.

CONTINUED COOL AND FAIR TODAY, SAYS FORECASTER

Fair weather and continued cool until this afternoon, when a rapid rise in temperature is expected, was the forecast for Atlanta given out Wednesday.

A fall in temperature of more than 20 degrees occurred in Atlanta during the day, due to the storm which developed over Tennessee and Kentucky Tuesday morning and moved rapidly northeast, being reported in the vicinity of Boston Wednesday morning.

Rain was reported at practically all stations east of the Mississippi and high wind caused considerable damage and inconvenience in certain sections.

A total of .70 inches of rain fell in Atlanta during the period of low pressure, cloudy weather Tuesday afternoon and night.

MAD DOG IS KILLED ON DECATUR STREET

A mad dog terrorized people in the vicinity of 562 Decatur street Wednesday for several hours before it was killed by Call Officers N. E. Pittman and N. E. Barker. The animal belonged to Mrs. Cora Moore, 562 Decatur street. Mrs. Moore and Mrs. P. A. Banks trapped the dog in a vacant room of Mrs. Moore's home, where it was kept until the arrival of the police.

$30,000 IS PAID FOR RESIDENCE LOT BY HIRSCH

What is said to be a record price in Atlanta for a residence building lot has been paid by J. N. Hirsch, the wholesale tobacco dealer, for the northwest corner of Ponce de Leon avenue and Springdale road, according to announcement by the A. S. Harris Realty company. The consideration was $30,000. The lot fronts 280 feet on Ponce de Leon avenue and 526 feet on Springdale road.

Under the terms of the purchase contract, the corner cannot be subdivided, but must be improved with only one home. The corner was bought from the E. G. Harrie estate.

Gambling Given As Divorce Cause In Two Petitions

One Wife Claims Husband Pulled Off Her Clothes Before Neighbors.

Two wives charged their husbands with being professional gamblers in divorce suits filed Wednesday in Fulton superior court.

Mrs. Connie Collette, asking a divorce from Henry Collette, said that her husband was "a gambler of the Dinty Moore type," that that their separation occurred when he came home and dragged her down the front steps and pulled her clothes off in view of the neighbors.

Mrs. Willie Oates, suing R. E. Oates for divorce, declared that her husband, "in playing his gambling propensities, never stayed at one place longer than two or three weeks at one time." She asserted that "his gambling profession caused him from city to city throughout the southeast."

According to Mrs. Collette, she married Collette after he had represented himself to be a salesman who stood well in society and who was financially able to provide her with all the necessities of life and luxuries to an extent. After the ceremony, she said, "she found him to be a pauper, and without a position 'except that of a gambler.'"

Mrs. Oates, in the other petition, declared that when she married Oates she was not quite 16 years of age, was rather unsophisticated, "and knew not the ways of a gambler, and though she did not quite understand the defendant's rapid movements from place to place, yet she did not believe that she was on a honeymoon."

POSTOFFICE IS ROBBED

Knights, Fla., Postmaster Reports Theft.

The postoffice at Knights, Fla., was robbed Tuesday night, according to a telegram to Joe P. Johnston, postal inspector in charge of Atlanta division, Wednesday. Inspector Johnston is in Macon, and Inspector R. H. Tomlinson is acting inspector in his absence.

Details of the robbery at Knights were not included in the report. The loss is believed to be small as no large stocks were kept in this office.

MOTHER GETS $5,000 FOR DEATH OF HER SON

For the death of her son, Zion Smith, aged 18, who was killed in an explosion of gasoline fumes in 1918, Mrs. E. S. Smith was awarded $5,000 damages in Judge H. M. Reid's division of the city court Wednesday. The defendant was the Reed Oil company. She sought $50,000.

Her attorneys were Hewlett & Dennis. Young Smith was killed when gasoline fumes from an open tank on the defendant's oil company were wafted into a vulcanizing shop where he was working, and became ignited from an open stove. Attorneys Neufville & Neufville represented the defendant concern.

ATLANTAN MADE HEAD OF COMPOSITION BODY

Caleb O. Smith, of Atlanta, operator of a composing machine plant, was elected secretary of the Southeastern Trade Composition association, when the association was formed in Birmingham, Tuesday. It was learned here Wednesday. Other officers elected are: President, John T. Wentz, of New Orleans, and vice president, E. T. Lowe, of Nashville.

WOMAN IS ARRESTED AND DRESSES SEIZED

Mrs. Ruth Johnson, 20, of 81-2 North Forsyth street, is held by the police for investigation, following her arrest by detectives Wednesday, who claim to have found a quantity of stolen dresses and other clothing.

Several articles found in Mrs. Johnson's possession are said to have been stolen from Mrs. B. F. Taylor, 120 South Pryor street.

Beaver Attends Meet.

Colonel Sandy Beaver, president of Riverside Military Academy, Gainesville, is attending the annual meeting of the association of military colleges and schools of the United States now in session at Washington. It was learned in Atlanta Wednesday. Colonel Beaver is the only southerner connected in an official capacity with the organization and holds the position of secretary and treasurer.

BAD FOR GEORGIA?

On this page is a communication from Superintendent Lancel, of the Waynesboro schools, calling attention to a compilation of interesting figures concerning education in Georgia, made by The Research Bulletin of the National Education Association—figures that are so startling that they not only should be studied by every Georgian, but the public conscience of the state should be aroused to such an extent that conditions as pointed out should be changed.

From these figures it is found that while Georgia is the nineteenth state in estimated wealth out of the forty-eight, being on the sunny side of the climb, it is actually thirty-first in educational expenditures.

This shows a condition that is certainly not worthy of any commendation; however, when it is realized that Georgia ranks forty-eighth, or tails the procession, in school expenditures per child the situation takes a much more unenviable aspect.

It is further pointed out that Georgia's expenditures for education in 1920, taking the census figures of the year as a basis, is the lowest in per cent income of any state in the union.

The "cause and effect" feature of the compilation comes in the statement that the amount of taxes paid to the federal government is "out of proportion to those paid as state and local levies."

And in that statement is the basic cause of Georgia's poor showing for education as recited.

Why is Georgia's quota of federal taxes out of proportion to the aggregate of state and local taxes?

Because the government gets thousands of taxpayers who are, under Georgia's archaic system of state taxation, immune from paying state, county and municipal taxes.

In other words the invisible properties are not reached because the system is not strong enough to reach them.

Thousands of citizens of large incomes are not reached because they own no visible properties, and possibly invest most of their wealth in tax exempts, and yet they must pay the federal income levy.

It is not pleasing to parade Georgia's miserable showing as to the education of her youth—the investment in the future character and intelligence and efficiency of her citizens—and yet it is necessary to show in unmistakable figures just how depressing that showing is, and to call the conscience of Georgia to account, with the plea that something must be done with a tax system that makes such a situation possible.

CANNING AT HOME.

Development of the canning industry in Georgia is undoubtedly one of the most important moves for the future prosperity and greatness of the state that can be undertaken.

It is a remarkable fact that Georgia fruits and vegetables, famous in the markets of the world as supreme quality, should be so little known on the shelves of food purveyors in canned form.

That there is a rapidly growing industry in this line now in the state is well known, but the total amount of Georgia fruit which is sold in cans is so small, compared to that of other states, as to be almost negligible.

The advantages to the producer in selling his products to the canner are many, most of them self-evident to the thoughtful observer.

In the first place, he can, by contracting with the cannery before his crop is planted, and before his fruit trees have budded, guarantee to himself a price for his goods which will provide a sure margin of profit and which he can count on from the start. True, occasionally he will not get quite as much for his fruit

as he would selling it fresh to the markets open during his harvest season, but taking the average, year after year, his returns will compare favorably with those secured from the fresh fruit markets.

Secondly, the element of chance is entirely removed. He knows exactly what he will get per ton for his crop and can arrange his own affairs accordingly. Then, too, he will have a market for his entire crop. In shipping fresh peaches, for instance, it is said that a large proportion, generally about one-third, of the crop is thrown aside for slight blemishes in the fruit which prevent it being packed fresh, but which do not injure it in the slightest for canning purposes. Thus the orchardist will be able, to the cannery, to dispose of his entire crop, at a guaranteed, profitable price to himself.

When the inevitable day arrives which shall see Georgia dotted with a chain of canning factories, from one end of the state to another, an industry will have been developed which will bring to the state and her farmers large revenues which she is now losing.

JUDGE THOMAS' CHARGE.

It was a notable charge to the grand jury delivered Monday by Judge William E. Thomas, of Valdosta, who is presiding over the emergency division of the Fulton superior court this week.

It was more than a charge of the law touching various crimes represented upon the docket of the court. It was an address on law enforcement, and the duty of the citizen in measuring up to his or her responsibilities in the maintenance of good and efficient government, which means better enforcement of law, and better protected conditions of living.

No truer words were ever uttered than those in this sentence quoted from his charge—

"The world is filled with passion. We have it everywhere; your responsibility is to ally that passion. Your responsibility is government—good government. Wise and adequate laws not sustained is not good government. Wise and adequate laws sustained by a responsible citizenship is good government."

The pistol as a menace to peaceful and law-abiding society was especially referred to in Judge Thomas' charge—

"When a man accustomed to carrying a pistol gets a pistol in one pocket and goes to some dive where he has ready access to any quantity of intoxicating liquors, and loads up on whisky, and with his bawling passions aroused, and he goes out upon the streets to face a law-abiding public, in the presence of excellent women and lovely little children, he is likely at any instant to take the life of some unoffending citizen."

In this connection Judge Thomas scored the attempts too frequently made to extend penal immunities to those guilty of crimes. "Let not emotion, passion or prejudice interfere with the course of justice," he said.

Judge Thomas made very plain the letter and spirit of the law as to disbursements, and the methods of disbursements, of tax funds, arraigning mercilessly the system of applying same to unauthorized purposes, as it is alleged is frequently done by the custodians of these trust funds. Of this, he said—

"I declare to you that county and municipal officers are trustees permitted by law to hold such funds in trust to be applied for the use and benefit of the people, who yield up such funds in taxation, and to be expended only and exactly as the law provides. Any misappropriation or donation of public funds held in trust in taxation is a violation of the law, and a crime against a confiding people. I know nothing of the affairs of your county or city, but if any of these officers have violated the law, then your duty begins."

Getting away from the law as usually applied in the routine of court affairs Judge Thomas touched most happily upon the question of schools, their functioning and their responsibility in building character and efficiency upon which must rest the fate of the future. "If you find any defects or inaccuracies or irregularities about your educational institutions and facilities," he said, "then take those trusted officials having them in charge into your confidence and help them build up in efficiency."

The charge was remarkable for its clearness, conciseness and the spirit of practical good citizenship it invoked.

At least, the last day of congress is well worth celebrating.

March came in mild enough, but the income tax was nothing to blow about.

Ambassador Harvey times his talk so that it will bring on more talk.

The poets insist that "the plowman sings at his work." If that's the case, he must set sweating at the mule to music.

Even if the average optimist eventually butts into a brick wall, he may loosen a few bricks and let the light in.

No matter how March smiles, he's under suspicion of having a blizzard hid out.

SWEATING UNDER THE ARMS.
An average of 10 queries a day
about the control of excessive sweating, or sweating under the arms, or sweating in the armpits, or sweating
in the armpits may be answered with a general discussion of the subject.

The sweat glands are normally large and very active in the axillae, and several layers of clothing add to the natural stimulation of the glands of this region by the warmth which is maintained here from apposition of the upper arm and chest wall.

There is no objection to this as hygiene is concerned, to diminishing or checking the sweating of a limited
area of the skin by artificial means,
provided only that the agent employed shall not irritate or otherwise injure the skin. Nor is there any hygienic objection to shaving the hair from the armpits or axillae or removing the hair by chemical solvents, provided the agents employed shall not irritate excessively, as most of the depilatory preparations which purport to "destroy" hair do. The best way to remove the hair is by means of a small safety razor. But the removal of the hair from the armpits does not diminish sweating nor the odor nor staining which sometimes accompanies excessive sweating.

One of the best agents for diminishing excessive sweating and for overcoming the odor present in some cases is aluminum chloride solution. Half an ounce of aluminum chloride dissolved in three ounces of distilled water or rain water is strong enough for most instances. This should be sponged or dabbed on the skin each alternate day for four or five times,
perhaps, and allowed to dry before dressing.

In some cases this proves somewhat irritating and sets up unpleasant itching or smarting. In others it fails to give complete relief. In former circumstances the solution should be reduced in strength by adding more water. In the latter a stronger solution may be used, say half an ounce of aluminum chloride in two ounces of distilled water. In any case it is usually necessary to resort to the use of the aluminum chloride solution for a few days now and then, in order to keep the sweating under control.

The persistent use of pure borax
acid in very fine powder as a dusting powder will control excessive and malodorous perspiration in the armpits
in some instances.

The reddish stain frequently noted
is due to the presence of a harmless iron salt, which is excreted by the armpits, and is caused by the use of borax acid.

By applying daily an antiseptic solution and keeping it on the skin for not less than five minutes. As much boric acid as water will dissolve, while borax makes as good a solution as any for the purpose.

Very light X-ray treatments by a skilled operator will control excessive localized sweating perfectly in any case.

An old and useful remedy for excessive or foul sweating in the axillae
is a solution of half an ounce of zinc sulphate in a pint of boiled water.
This is another remedy which is a solution of an ounce of alum in a pint of boiled water. Either of these astringent solutions should be sponged
on the affected skin surface once a day and allowed to dry.

Particularly useful in getting rid of an unpleasant odor associated with excessive sweating in the armpits is this old remedy: Sponging applied
once daily for six times:
Salicylic acid 30 grains
Benzoic acid 60 grains
Vaseline 1 ounce

Striking School Figures That Reflect No Credit on Georgia's Progress

Editor Constitution: The Research Bulletin of the National Education Association, January, 1923, number, has many interesting facts that Georgians should know about education in our own state.

Georgia expenditures for 1919-20, $9,076,453; rank in expenditures among the states, 31; total estimated wealth, 1920, $3,085,508,000; rank in estimated wealth, 19; income 1919, $1,141,953,000; rank in income, 15; savings deposits 1921, $118,385,000; rank in savings deposits, 25.

Estimated wealth per child ages 5 to 20 inclusive, $2,750; rank in wealth per child, 46; income 1919 per child ages 5 to 20 inclusive, $1,028; rank in income per child, 44; expenditures per child, 1920, $120; rank in expenditures per child, 48.

Table No. 5—The States and the Cost of the Public Schools (Georgia): Per cent of wealth 1920 to pay for education, 23; rank in per cent of wealth 1920 expended for education, 1920, 47; per cent of income 1919 to pay for education, 23; rank in per cent income 1919 expended for education 1920, 49; per cent of savings 1921 to pay for education 1920, 72; per cent of savings 1921 expended for education 1920, 30.

Table No. 6—The States, per capita Expenditures for Education and Per Capita Wealth (Georgia): Per capita expenditures for education 1920, $3.13; rank in per capita expenditures for education, 49; per capita estimated wealth 1920, $1,058; rank in per capita estimated wealth, 45; per capita income 1919, $294; rank in per capita income, 43; per capita savings deposits, $41; rank in per capita savings deposits, 42.

Table No. 7—State Income, Taxes Paid and Expenditures for Education (Georgia):

Income in thousands of dollars in 1919, $1,141,953; total taxes paid federal, state and local in thousands of dollars, 1919, $97,960; per cent of income paid for all taxes, 8.6; federal taxes, 6.0; state and local taxes, 2.6; expenditures for education 1919-20, $9,076,453; per cent of total taxes expended for education, 9.27; per cent of income expended for education, .70.

Conclusions from these facts: 1. Georgia is 19th in estimated wealth, but 31st in educational expenditures per child, but 48th in expenditures per child.

2. Georgia is the lowest in per cent income expended for education 1920.

3. Georgia's estimated per capita wealth is 45th, but her per capita expenditures for education 1920 is 49th.

4. The amount of taxes paid to the federal government is out of proportion to those paid state and local.

The big problem before the incoming legislature is going to be that of taxation—an adequate tax system for the state. Whether the present system is repealed or modified education should have a large place in the deliberations of the assembly. The whole question of the efficiency of the educational system must finally revert to a sufficiency of money.

The same bulletin gives the average salaries for teachers in all the schools of Georgia as $420. Our rank in this particular is 44th.

And that strikes me as hitting zero in the art of snappy retort.

The Inverness cape did not stage a comeback for evening wear but the nearest thing to it is seen in the theater foyers. It is a cape-like overcoat which is worn without buttons—that gets 'em, no buttons—and has a dandy collar and deep slash cuffs. The concertina opera hat goes with it.

One of the young millionaires—ripe for Broadway plucking—has fallen into the hands of a ruthless gold-digger. So the story goes, he sent her around a handsome imported coupe for her birthday recently. She called him up in a pout and said she was "carrying" it. Naturally, he wanted to know wherein he had offended. And there were her exact words, "You ain't monogrammed my crest on it." So he had it fixed up and that even, he or the next, the vent driving with her. "Carry on," he said, "my friend," he is head usher in a Broadway variety house.

There may be something in a name after all. At Reuben's a glorified delicatessen shop, one pays $1 for a sandwich and $2 for a cocktail. On Fifth avenue one pays 30 cents for an ice cream soda.

Coincidentally, one of the shrewdest worldly-wise persons I know—a boyhood friend—is named Jay. And the prize snap of my acquaintance is named Learned. But the greatest torture of a life is to go through life with one of these hybrid names like mine. Odd. Can you beat that for a name? I know of only one that comes anywhere near it. It is Hoof. That's the honest business first name of a New York horticulturist.

BITS OF NEW YORK LIFE

BY O. O. MINTYRE

New York, March 7.—Nearly everybody has a secret ambition to help in writing the nation's songs. The heaviest mail in New York goes to Tin Pan Alley, and the heaviest traffic in the city. It is one calling that is practically hopeless.

The popular ditties of the hour are written by a select group of southern dandies with iron arms who are in the pay of the music publishing houses. Tin Pan Alley is along Forty-seventh street—a row of old-fashioned brownstone structures.

In box-like stalls, just big enough for a piano, countless youths, none more than 25, grind out the tunes that the nation whistles. The widows are always open and a riotous blending of disharmony floats out to the street.

One of the leading music publishers says that out of 1,000 songs written by amateurs only one was purchased, and it was necessary to re-write this one. There is one man in Wisconsin who has sent to a publishing house 764 songs without receiving a single word of encouragement.

It is true that the majority of manuscripts are not even looked over. The song writing youngsters are not so much musicians as students of public school. Many of them are able to play the piano with only one finger.

Lyricists fare a trifle better but very little. Now and then lyrics are written by a poet, but for the most part they are the work of a hack. For them but it is so seldom that the effort is scarcely worth the trouble.

It seems to me that no one is able to go back to a taxi driver. Somehow they always get the best of one in an argument. I was standing at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue awaiting a traffic light to change. A taxi tried to turn the corner and almost brushed me. The driver yelled, "Get out of here!"

"Get on yourself," I called back.

THE NEW PUPIL

Commends Holloman's Views on the Value Of Education

(From The Asheville (N.C.) Citizen.)
Returning from a visit to the University of North Carolina, James Holloman wrote in The Atlanta Constitution a splendid tribute to what he calls a magnificent institution and the work it is doing. When Holloman put down this estimate of education and the need for it in American life:

"Thou art a scholar, speak to it, Horatio."
"There is not a more significant line in all of Shakespeare than these words of Marcellus to Horatio, a fellow student of the province of North Carolina, who remained up with the castle guards to investigate the reported midnight appearance of the ghost of Hamlet's father."

"The aspiration for the third time appeared, and the speaker is that coming even cost the shadows before."

In January, 1922, spot cotton at New York sold as low as 16.45. There has been a gradual advance since then. Every day, however, there was considerable fluctuation between 20 and 22 cents. But this was the beginning of the new crop movement, and the price of cotton has been steadily advancing since then.

As for the old crop contracts, look at spot cotton. Mills are calling cotton and the market is first hands is rapidly decreasing. Over half of the total supply is already gone. There is a demand for spot cotton because there is a market for goods. Why should it be surprising that the January consumption was so large, when business conditions are sound, and money purchasing power large, and the price of cotton is so high?

The supply of cotton is growing smaller, and there is much to lead into his mouth. But it will come, cotton contracted to mills more than they can deliver. The mills, we know, are consuming at a rate which, with fair exports, will assure a scarcity before the end of the season. Until the consuming public calls a halt, demand for cotton will continue. The price will depend upon the ease or difficulty with which the demand is filled, and there is nothing to suggest an easy filling.

As for the new crop, no one can answer with as much certainty as of the old. But it will come, cotton contracted to mills more than they can deliver. The mills, we know, are consuming at a rate which, with fair exports, will assure a scarcity before the end of the season. Until the consuming public calls a halt, demand for cotton will continue. The price will depend upon the ease or difficulty with which the demand is filled, and there is nothing to suggest an easy filling.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creosolene, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creosolene is a new medical discovery with twofold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ. Of all known drugs, creosolene is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung trouble. Creosolene contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption. Creosolene is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchitis, asthmalike bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cure of cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist—(adv.)

HIGHER GASOLINE TAX IS PROPOSED

Two-Cent Levy a Gallon for the Improvement of Roads Proposed by John N. Holder.

Macon, Ga., March 7.—(Special.) John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway commission, speaking here today before the Kiwanis club, advocated a state tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline and oil to raise sufficient funds to meet the federal aid appropriation for good road building in Georgia.

Declaring that the present tax of one cent a gallon on gasoline brought in $800,000 in 1922, Mr. Holder said that the tax he now proposed would mean a revenue for the year of $1,300,000. He declared that such a tax would mean that tourists, "who do considerable damage to our roads" will help to pay for their maintenance. He also said that this tax would throw the heaviest burden upon the richest counties, with their larger numbers of automobile owners, and that these counties would not object, but would feel amply repaid by the better roads all over the state.

Holder's Address.

Mr. Holder's speech is as follows: The state aid system of public highways in Georgia consists of 100 miles. Every county seat in Georgia has at least two state roads, of the 5,300 miles, 1,200 have been built or are under construction. About 400 miles will be put under construction this year.

On the state system of highways there are 144,000 lineal feet or about 28 miles of bridges. Thirteen and four-tenths miles have already been built and other great bridge projects are being built now. Two and one-half miles of these will cost more than a million dollars. Another great structure at Bainbridge, over the Flint river, this will cost more than one million dollars. Twenty-three bridges are under construction today. With federal aid in the entire United States to April 1 last year there had been on the state system of roads 45 miles of bridges, one-third of which were erected in Georgia.

To April 1 last year only four states in the Union had built more miles of road than Georgia. These were Texas, Iowa, Minnesota and North Carolina. The average cost of Georgia state roads to April 1 last year was $6,300 per mile, which is $1,000 less than the average for the United States. Since then Georgia is building roads at a less cost than any state in the Union—even North Carolina, where a wonderful road program is being carried out. The average cost of Georgia roads in 1920 was 5.86, in 1921 they were 5.41 and in 1922 they were 5.27 and this year they will be very small fraction over 5 per cent. This is the lowest cost of any state's roadwork.

The total amount of federal funds allotted to Georgia to June 30, 1923, is $10,750,000, every dollar of which has been allotted by the state highway commission to the state. No federal aid road funds are available any state unless an amount of money is provided with which to match federal funds on a 50-50 basis or dollar for dollar. Many of the Georgia counties have no money and these funds have been used very largely to obtain federal aid. Georgia's share of federal funds this year was $1,331,000, while next year her quota will be $1,755,000, the following year $2,179,000, and the year after $2,603,000. If this part of the budget seems large, it is because it is necessary to meet federal requirements.

Emergency Fund.

In the next place $50,000 is allowed by law for emergencies. Every dollar will be used for the purpose of building or rebuilding bridges on the state system that must be rebuilt this year to keep the roads open.

In the next place, $20,000 is set aside to do special work in maintaining federal aid projects provided by the federal government. This is also maintenance.

In the next place about $100,000 will be used with which to buy additional maintenance equipment, consisting of tractors, trucks, road machines, maintainers, etc. This was absolutely necessary and was purchased and then only after advertising for bids.

In the next place, $300,000 is allotted for the regular maintenance program above stated. Georgia will have at the end of the year about 2,100 miles of roads, built in part with federal funds. Before the state system of roads was adopted some of the wealthy counties like Fulton, Chatham, Bibb, Richmond, Floyd and other counties had built hard-surface roads. These were taken over and the state system of constructed roads consists of about 2,500 miles. The federal law provides that all federal aid roads shall be maintained by the state. The language of the law is: "That before any project shall be approved by the secretary of agriculture for any state, such state shall make provisions for state funds required each year of such states by this act for the reconstruction, reconstruction and maintenance of all federal aid highways within this state, which funds shall be under the direct control of the state highway department."

If State Fails.

In case, however, the state fails to properly maintain federal aid roads then what happens? The law provides "that should any state fail to maintain any highway within its boundaries after construction, reconstruction or the provisions of this act, the secretary of agriculture shall then serve notice upon the state highway department of the fact and if within 90 days after receipt of such notice said highway has not been placed in proper condition of maintenance, the secretary of agriculture shall proceed immediately to have such highway placed in proper condition of maintenance and charge the cost thereof against the state, and will, in such case, and shall refuse to approve any other project in said state."

You can see why $300,000 has been set aside for doing special maintenance on federal aid projects. The state law is very clear on the subject and the state receiving federal aid. "The federal government is enforcing this law as every recently made manifest when federal aid was withdrawn from Arkansas because that state did not properly maintain her state roads. The report of the Arkansas commission says: "The condition of maintenance generally over the state is very deplorable. The state exacted from the districts and counties specific pledges that maintenance will be taken care of adequately, but experience has shown these pledges usually amount to very little." So Arkansas has not federal aid to road building because the state highway department did not keep the roads and keep them in proper condition.

What the people in Georgia want is a careful, economic and honest expenditure of funds on the roads.

Maintenance Cost.

We wish to show you just how the maintenance money is spent. There are 11 road divisions and each division has an average of nine sections and one additional, making a total of 110 sections. The division officers consist of a division engineer, $300 per month; office engineer, $200 per month; stenographer, $150 per month; cashier, $175 per month; superintendent, $300 per month; total salaries, $975 per month. Each section has one patrolman, $100 per month; one machine operator, $50 per month; one tractor operator, $50 per month; laborers, $150 per month; gas and oil, $250 per month; repairs and parts and extra labor, $150 per month; material, $75 per month; heavy outfit, $120 per month; incidentals, $25 per month.

For the next four months it will be seen that in round numbers $100,000 a month will be spent on roads for maintenance. In addition $100,000 per month will be spent on bridge maintenance. Under this system every mile of the 5,500 in the state system will be maintained, machines repaired or replaced 48 hours after each rain. This maintenance force will keep the roads in good repair, provided there is not too much rain or too much dry weather. Earth roads will get wet when it rains long enough and when wet heavy traffic will break them up. When there is a long season of dry weather, dirt roads will have their surface converted into

PATROLMAN TURNS SLEUTH AND BALKS THEFT OF CHEESE

Patrolman M. H. Cooper Wednesday trapped a negro immediately after he is alleged to have stolen a cheese from the Piggy-Wiggly store, 326 Marietta street.

"I noticed him walking out Marietta street acting suspiciously, so I concealed myself in a nearby store and thought I would watch to see what he was up to," said Officer Cooper. The negro, who gave his name as James Austin, and his address as the rear of 54 Windsor street, went into the grocery store and came out with a cheese under his arm. He walked into Officer Cooper's arms, and came to police barracks in the patrol wagon.

Groceries by the wholesale that had been stolen from the grocery store of D. W. Coffey, 706 Marietta street, were recovered by Officers Paul L. Williams and W. W. Ford, who jailed two negro suspects in connection with the robbery.

Among the stolen articles that were recovered were 200 pounds of beef steak, 1 case cigarettes, 3 hams, 7 boxes of cigars, 4 sides of meat, 100 pounds of flour and 100 pounds of sugar.

Robert McGee, one of the negroes arrested, is charged with burglary. He is held in default of $10,000 bond. The other negro, Rosa Mitchell, is charged with receiving stolen goods. Her bond was fixed at $1,000.

Burglars raided the grocery store of B. Hollister, at Market and Grant streets, during Tuesday night, taking 30 pounds of land and other groceries. Entrance was gained through a side window, which was broken open.

A platinum wrist watch, with diamonds, was stolen from Miss Gladys Griffin, 111 Springdale road.

EDGAR DERRY, SR., DIES IN AUGUSTA

Augusta, Ga., March 7.—(Special.) Edgar Derry, Sr., 89 years old, died here today. He formerly was prominent in the mercantile business in Augusta. He was a native of New Jersey, but his sympathies were with the south and he enlisted in the confederate army, serving throughout the war between the states. He located in Augusta after the surrender.

being built. Engineering supervision must be paid exclusively by the state except for inspection, but will pay nothing for engineers and assistants. When I became chairman of the state highway board I began at once efforts for retrenchment and economy. I kept insisting on less engineering. The until a letter was received from a division engineer of the bureau of public roads in which he protested against economizing on engineering. He said: "I call your attention to the necessity for close and thorough engineering supervision of federal aid road construction, work in order that it may meet the requirements of the government."

It is necessary that an experienced and reliable resident engineer be placed on each project giving continuous service to see that the requirements of the government are carried out and that no defective workmanship or materials be incorporated in the work. It is necessary to have sufficient engineering supervision."

In making the budget for engineering supervision of construction, we provided for the minimum amount according to the bureau of public roads. The federal government furnishes one-half of the money for construction, and therefore has the right to make demands and if they are not complied with federal funds will be withheld. If this part of the budget seems large, it is because it is necessary to meet federal requirements.

Before the state system of roads was adopted some of the wealthy counties like Fulton, Chatham, Bibb, Richmond, Floyd and other counties had built hard-surface roads. These were taken over and the state system of constructed roads consists of about 2,500 miles. The federal law provides that all federal aid roads shall be maintained by the state. The language of the law is: "That before any project shall be approved by the secretary of agriculture for any state, such state shall make provisions for state funds required each year of such states by this act for the reconstruction, reconstruction and maintenance of all federal aid highways within this state, which funds shall be under the direct control of the state highway department."

If State Fails.

In case, however, the state fails to properly maintain federal aid roads then what happens? The law provides "that should any state fail to maintain any highway within its boundaries after construction, reconstruction or the provisions of this act, the secretary of agriculture shall then serve notice upon the state highway department of the fact and if within 90 days after receipt of such notice said highway has not been placed in proper condition of maintenance, the secretary of agriculture shall proceed immediately to have such highway placed in proper condition of maintenance and charge the cost thereof against the state, and will, in such case, and shall refuse to approve any other project in said state."

You can see why $300,000 has been set aside for doing special maintenance on federal aid projects. The state law is very clear on the subject and the state receiving federal aid. "The federal government is enforcing this law as every recently made manifest when federal aid was withdrawn from Arkansas because that state did not properly maintain her state roads. The report of the Arkansas commission says: "The condition of maintenance generally over the state is very deplorable. The state exacted from the districts and counties specific pledges that maintenance will be taken care of adequately, but experience has shown these pledges usually amount to very little." So Arkansas has not federal aid to road building because the state highway department did not keep the roads and keep them in proper condition.

What the people in Georgia want is a careful, economic and honest expenditure of funds on the roads.

Maintenance Cost.

We wish to show you just how the maintenance money is spent. There are 11 road divisions and each division has an average of nine sections and one additional, making a total of 110 sections. The division officers consist of a division engineer, $300 per month; office engineer, $200 per month; stenographer, $150 per month; cashier, $175 per month; superintendent, $300 per month; total salaries, $975 per month. Each section has one patrolman, $100 per month; one machine operator, $50 per month; one tractor operator, $50 per month; laborers, $150 per month; gas and oil, $250 per month; repairs and parts and extra labor, $150 per month; material, $75 per month; heavy outfit, $120 per month; incidentals, $25 per month.

For the next four months it will be seen that in round numbers $100,000 a month will be spent on roads for maintenance. In addition $100,000 per month will be spent on bridge maintenance. Under this system every mile of the 5,500 in the state system will be maintained, machines repaired or replaced 48 hours after each rain. This maintenance force will keep the roads in good repair, provided there is not too much rain or too much dry weather. Earth roads will get wet when it rains long enough and when wet heavy traffic will break them up. When there is a long season of dry weather, dirt roads will have their surface converted into

and the little counties can construct with their own funds the projects in the borders of their county. It means good roads in the little counties and they will be paid with state and federal funds to build roads in their own counties stock or city property. It will be paid by automobiles and yet it is economy to have good roads.

I have a friend who lives on a federal aid road. He is 12 miles from a city. Before the building of this road it required two and one-half gallons of gas to go to market and return. Now it takes one and one-half gallons. He goes to his market at least twice a week, saving a gallon of gas each trip or two gallons per week or 104 gallons per year. At 20 cents per gallon his saving on gasoline alone was $20.80. He saved $2 on oil, making $22.80. He invested $11.25 and received $22.80 in return. That there would be thus provided a sure enough system of state roads.

To keep the roads open requires constant maintenance and that is just the reason that the state highway board has put on a maintenance force for every work day in the year and I want to say this to you, these roads are going to be kept in just as good condition as possible with the amount of money available for this purpose or we are going to have the biggest row ever witnessed in Georgia with those in charge of maintenance work. These men have been making excuses because of the small amount of maintenance available for maintenance work since November, but there is now absolutely no excuse much less reason for not putting all the state aid roads in good repair and keeping them in this condition. We do not blame the people from fussing about the condition of the roads during the past few weeks. We have fussed more than any one man in Georgia. I do not have the authority to appoint employees of the state highway department. What I want to say to you is that I want to see every man in Georgia to have the authority to demand efficient service and we are going to have the best work we can get or the funds of the state for road work will go unexpended. I have no one I want to put in any position in the state highway department. What I want is for everyone in the department to be a worker and to do his work well. I am trying to set every employee in the department a good example in work.

Old Debt Paid.

Last year old debts had to be paid and equipment bought. This year we have started with practically a clean sheet and a budget for every division of the department. The expenses of the department have been greatly reduced. Economy will be practiced everywhere possible. If any citizen has any suggestion which he thinks will improve the department come and tell me. I am anxious to have suggestions.

Rich County Pay.

Since these rich counties own a large per cent of the cars they would pay most of the cost of the road. They would pay it with little complaint because of the security of the people living in these counties and owning cars to have a well connected system of roads. They know the little counties the state can not build them, but this proposition will enable the state to construct the state aid roads within the borders of the little counties.

As just stated, the counties can do the work with their own cars if they wish, provided they will do so at once. If not the projects can be let to contract. Where the county is unable to do the work, the state highway board has never awarded a contract until first approved by the county. The big counties are now doing a large part of the motor vehicle tax. Of the $1,800,000 revenue from this source last year Fulton paid $247,113.22 or nearly one-fifth of this tax. Fulton, Bibb, Chatham, DeKalb, Muscogee and Richmond paid $447,200 or more than one-third. Twenty-five counties paid more than a million dollars, or about 60 per cent.

Let Tourists Pay.

Levy a tax on gasoline and the tourists who do considerable damage to our roads will pay something towards their repair. Have state funds to match federal funds

Today Friday and Saturday!

The Three Deciding Days of the Special Award Period---Days of Supreme Activity

Club Manager's Daily Message to Club Members

The field in the special extra Help-Yourself Club offer is on the last lap.

Only three more days are left for prospective winners of the handsome Anderson and Gardner touring cars to forge ahead and win.

These are the deciding days of the campaign. They stand as the supreme test of the resourcefulness of each and every man and woman who is out to win one of the two expensive special automobile awards.

The cars are not cinched. Title to them is still to be decided by the activity of the individual club member during today, Friday and Saturday.

As a result, you can't afford to lag in the game of securing subscriptions to The Constitution on these three days. A real active campaign today, Friday and Saturday can win you one of the two beautiful extra prizes.

If you slow down, some ambitious man or woman can forge ahead and snatch the award right out of your fingers while they are in the very act of closing upon it.

Therefore, take this advice: Make the three final days of the special campaign the biggest days you have ever had in the Help-Yourself Club. Force the pace by staying constantly on the job and driving at your goal under a full head of steam.

Follow the example set by a number of club members Wednesday and extend your campaign to neighboring towns and rural sections. Remember that the world is your territory and that you don't have to stay strictly at home.

Ten miles away is a town that has no active representative on the club membership list, and you can make half a day's operations in such a section count for as much as a whole day's work in partially-covered sections.

You have friends all about your home town, and a pleasant trip into the country will repay you bountifully for your activity there. Use your own ingenuity; develop your activities according to your own personal ideas, and don't depend upon cut-and-dried methods to win subscriptions.

Check over your list of subscribers and pick out those who have aided your campaign with only short-term subscriptions. Point out to your friends the fact that they can give you additional help by taking a year's subscription instead of a three-months' or a six-months' subscription.

Any man or woman who subscribes to "The Standard Southern Newspaper" for three months will certainly not let his or her subscription lapse at that time. The reputation of The Constitution as the peerless southern newspaper of the home guarantees the truth of that assertion.

Therefore, why shouldn't your friends assist you by giving you their extended-term subscriptions now and help you win a beautiful car instead of waiting for three or six months and sending in their subscriptions?

Once a Constitution reader, always a Constitution reader. The accuracy of that statement is positively demonstrated by the thousands of people all over the south who have been subscribers to The Constitution for thirty, forty and even fifty years.

If you were selling patent fire-kindlers or non-explosive lamp powder you would naturally pick the poor, uneducated sucker as your victim. But in view of the fact that you're placing in southern homes the paper that has stood as the bulwark of Dixie journalism for over half a century, the paper that enjoys a nation-wide reputation for accuracy, completeness of news in every detail, freshness of feature and strength of editorial—the sucker is the man you avoid.

Seek out the most enlightened or those who desire additional enlightenment. They know and appreciate The Constitution. It needs no salesmanship or guarantee, for it "sells" itself and its reputation for thoroughness and dependability has preceded you in the field by four decades.

Everybody knows the worth of your article. The deciding factor in the race will be your own personality and ability to stick to your campaign.

Don't fall down in these items. If you don't win it will be nobody's fault but your own.

The two beautiful, expensive extra prizes are waiting to be claimed by their winners. If you really and truly want one of those cars and are determined to carry it off as a prize for yourself, it's virtually yours now.

These Cars Are not Cinched, but Those Who WIN Will be Those Who WORK DURING THESE LAST 3 DAYS

Second Payments

Should Be the Center of Your Efforts

Many a race has been won in the last lap. It is the time when the supreme effort is made—when excitement is at its height—when endurance knows no limitation. The two cars in this SPECIAL AWARD race may be won by supreme efforts made during these last TWO DAYS! Is your enthusiasm lagging? Is your endurance weakening? Are you doing your best?

Go after those SECOND PAYMENTS—they may mean your winning. Read about the SECOND PAYMENT plan in the column on the right. The standing of the members printed below may mean nothing to you if you spend these three days with your SECOND PAYMENT possibilities.

Second Payment May Mean Your Success—Go Get Them

Boost your scores by going after those Second Payments. The following concise information gives you an idea just how important these second payments are to you at this time, when every member is working with feverish heat to make the greatest showing by Saturday night at 9 o'clock.

A $2.50 extension of a $2.50 Campaign Subscription is good for 20,000 votes.

A $4.50 extension of a $5.00 Campaign Subscription is good for 40,000 votes.

A $7.00 extension of a $2.50 Campaign Subscription is good for 60,000 votes.

A $9.50 extension of a $9.50 Campaign Subscription is good for 88,000 votes.

A $7.50 extension of a $7.50 Campaign Subscription is good for 76,000 votes.

A $28.50 extension of a $19.00 Campaign Subscription is good for 264,000 votes.

In order to find the number of votes you are entitled to on the second payment, subtract the number given on the first payment from what the total payment calls for. For example, if the first payment was $2.50 you were given 12,000 votes and the subscriber now gives you a second payment of $2.50 the total payment calls for 32,000, but the first payment was given 12,000 votes, therefore on this second payment, 20,000 votes will be allowed.

If the first payment was $9.50 and the subscriber now pays you another $9.50, the first payment entitled you to 72,000 votes, the total payment for $19.00 is 160,000 votes, therefore the second payment is entitled to the difference between what the first payment calls for and what the total payment calls for which, in this case, is 88,000 votes.

It makes no difference to whom the first payment was given. If you secure the second payment, you will be given the additional votes.

All such subscriptions must be marked in the right-hand column of the remittance sheet, "2nd pay," if you are to derive the benefit of the additional votes. Unless they are so marked, no additional votes will be given.

Study this plan carefully. It is a rapid way to boost your scores. Look through your receipt books and pick out the short term subscriptions. Ask them to give you the balance of the year or another year.

Vote Value of Subscription Payments

Below is shown the subscription rate and the regular number of votes given, according to the amount paid. ALL OLD and NEW subscribers making any payment of three months or more on subscription are entitled to votes.

An old subscriber is given the same number of votes as a new subscriber.

Subscription	Regular Number of Votes

KIDNAPED DOCTOR SUFFERED BEATING

Physician Believes Abductors Were Seeking Narcotics Carried in Emergency Case.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 7.—Dr. B. Cheston Goldberg, who late last night was abducted by four masked men at his home here, walked into police headquarters today and told authorities that he regained consciousness while lying in a pool of mud about three miles from the city after having been beaten and robbed. His face was injured by a blow with a brick from the eye to the forehead.

The physician expressed the belief that his captors were seeking narcotics which he carried in his emergency kit. "They stripped me of everything I had and beat me terribly on the back," he told the police. He was unable to explain what caused the wound on his face.

Dr. Goldberg said he had been bound and gagged just after being seized as he was putting his automobile in the garage for the night. His kidnappers, he said, sped rapidly away in their own machine and took to the highway known as the Twenty-third street road.

When he regained his senses early this morning, he said he was lying in a mudhole on the road 13 miles in the country. His diamond ring and $50 in cash were gone, as well as other personal effects. The gag and rope which bound him had been removed.

"I don't know what happened," the doctor said.

Dr. Goldberg said he signalled several passing motorists, but none stopped for him. He said he finally made his way to a farmhouse and received temporary aid from its occupants. He spoke vaguely of riding in an automobile which the farmer owned, but when police asked him where the farmer had let him out in the city he said he walked the entire 13 miles.

The physician was unable to describe any of his assailants beyond the fact that he did not think they were "Ku Kluxers." He said he had several Ku Klux patients and that he was sure the organization had no grievance against him.

Dr. Goldberg was confined to his bed this morning and county authorities said they would not attempt to proceed with an investigation until he is able to be questioned. Their only clue is the description of one of the men given by Mrs. Goldberg, who tried to drive the quartet away from her husband, and a hat sold by a local haberdasher which officers believe was dropped by one of the abductors in the scuffle with Dr. Goldberg.

SAV COAL SITUATION NOW IN GOOD SHAPE

National Association Fears No Serious Shortage Soon.

Washington, March 7.—In spite of the long strike of coal miners during 1922, and transportation difficulties which were encountered following its conclusion and during the winter, the national situation as to coal supply is now good, according to a summary of reports from mining districts issued today by the National Coal Association.

Almost without exception, the coal association declared, the great producing districts are turning out sufficient coal to meet current demands and where any shortages exist, they are not of serious moment, and exist only because of inability of railroads to furnish sufficient cars.

Out of several districts in Ohio, the Pittsburgh vein was said to be the only one to which a demand in excess of supply was being directed, and there even the balance of supply and demand was close to being reached. In Illinois, mines in all districts were said to be operating on part time basis because of quiet markets. Throughout Indiana, congestion on the railroads was said to be occasioning delay in deliveries, but shortage conditions were not reported.

In the Pittsburgh district of Pennsylvania, both rail and mine facilities were said to be ample to meet demand, but in some other districts, a better car service was noted. Through West Virginia, reporting mine operations declared railroad service was far from being adequate.

From Kentucky, Alabama and Tennessee, and from the mining territory west of the Mississippi, all reports indicated that demands for coal were being supplied with the mines generally in a position to furnish more than was being sought.

Georgia Mental Hygiene Program To Be Discussed

Meeting Is Called for Today by Former Governor Hugh Dorsey.

A meeting of importance to thousands of Georgians is to be held in the directors' room of the chamber of commerce at 10 o'clock today at the call of former Governor Hugh M. Dorsey.

Mr. Dorsey urges all persons who are interested in a state mental hygiene program to attend the meeting at which the present situation regarding the care and treatment of the mentally diseased and defective will be discussed and steps taken to plan a campaign of education and to secure such legislation as seems necessary.

Dr. V. V. Anderson, of the national mental hygiene committee of New York, who knows the situation in Georgia, will be present, as will representatives of the state sanitarium, Gracewood; the State Medical college, the State Medical society, Emory Medical college and all of the social and public organizations interested in mental hygiene. Any person interested is invited to attend.

To issuing call for the meeting, Governor Dorsey made the following statement:

"In co-operation with the state council of social agencies, I have agreed to assist in reviving interest in a state mental hygiene program inasmuch as I was, president of the Georgia Mental Hygiene society when it was decided to discontinue its work. We have been handicapped in the past because we had no funds and could not secure a secretary who could give the proper attention to details. However, the state council of social agencies has recently secured a budget and employed Burr Blackburn, as executive secretary, and the council has offered Mr. Blackburn's services to us for secretarial work."

"It seems to me that no subject is more vital at this time. Other states are forging far ahead of us and we cannot remain satisfied with our inadequate provision for the care of the insane and mentally defective, both in our institutions and in our communities. We have had the advantage in the past of some expert assistance in surveying conditions in Georgia, and it is high time that we are making some definite, progressive steps."

The following sub-committees have been appointed by Chairman Jacobs: Ticket committee, Joel Dorris, Joe Goldberg, Abe Goldberg, J. Fauman, Mrs. J. J. Peradise, Miss Esther Goldberg, M. Rich, B. Gies, and A. Tenbaum.

Merchandise committee, J. J. Peradise, J. Fauman, chairman, M. Friedman, M. Yudelsohn, A. Tenbaum, Miss Frances Cuba, S. Gerson, I. Melnick, Mrs. Rich, Mrs. I. Peradise, Mrs. A. Sankoff, Mrs. Mollie Hirsch, Mrs. Esther Goldie, Mrs. J. Levin and Mrs. J. Friedman.

Program committee, Mrs. J. Fauman, Mrs. Nathan Bach, Mrs. Mollie Hirsch, Mrs. I. Peradise, Mrs. Nathan Goldberg, Miss Esther Goldberg, Miss Rebecca Dorris, Miss Annie Goldstein, Mrs. M. Rich, M. Friedman.

Publicity committee, Mrs. A. P. Himes, M. Gerson, chairman; M. Yudelsohn, Mrs. Mollie Hirsch, Mrs. J. Jacobs, Mrs. Nathan Goldberg, Miss Esther Goldberg, Miss Rebecca Dorris, Miss Annie Goldstein, D. Brown, P. Gies and I. Hartung.

Country store committee, Max Jacobs, Mrs. Edna Friedman, Mrs. Esther Goldie, Miss Annie Goldstein and Mrs. N. A. Lefkowitz.

Refreshment committee, Max Goldberg, M. Yudelsohn, M. Gerson, S. Gerson, chairman; S. Borenstein, I. Borenstein, M. Yudelsohn, I. Jacobs and J. Levin.

LOAN OF $500,000 MADE TO GEORGIA

and pressing obligations due by the state.

In approximately 30 minutes Treasurer W. J. Spear conducted a conference with W. W. Banks, executive manager of the Citizens & Southern bank here, in which the half million dollars was placed to the credit of the state of Georgia, and the disbursement of the funds to meet the claims made upon the state treasury was begun as soon as Mr. Spear returned to his office.

The rate of interest on which the loan was made to the state is 4-1/2 per cent, which is itself significant in that it is the identical percentage at which loans are made by the federal reserve.

The striking feature of the transaction lies in the fact that a couple of years ago, when a similar loan was made to the state, negotiations were in progress several days and were concluded only by the participation of three Atlanta banks in the transaction, which, at that time, was a considerable financial deal to be handled locally from resources of the home banks.

For years the state has been negotiating what are termed "temporary loans," which the law provided should not be in excess of half a million dollars, but the common practice through all these years has been to negotiate those loans with the aid of eastern financial institutions. This transaction, however, brings forcibly to attention of business and commercial enterprises of the state the growth and stability reached by banking in Georgia in a way not heretofore presented, which is consequently true in respect to the Citizens & Southern.

It is recalled that this institution discounted the rental notes on the Western & Atlantic railroad for the state last year, which amounted to $2,700,000, in addition to discounting the state's "advance" on warrants, amounting to $3,000,000.

Besides the financial transactions of large moment which this state-wide banking house has handled for the state of Georgia, the Citizens & Southern during the past year financed approximately one-third of Georgia's last cotton crop movement, according to its officials, and supplied a large part of the finances necessary for the successful operation of the Georgia Cotton Growers Co-operative Marketing association.

J. CLAYTON BURKE JOINS THE FORCES OF GRANT-JETER

J. Clayton Burke is one of the latest additions to the sales force of the Grant-Jeter company.

Mr. Burke was born in Cleveland, Ohio, coming to Atlanta 9 years ago.

J. CLAYTON BURKE.

As service manager of the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, remaining with that company 5 years.

Since leaving the Goodrich people he has been interested in several Atlanta and out of town concerns, among them being the Capital City Tire & Supply company, The Burke Tire and Supply company, of Jacksonville, Fla., and the Burke-Harrison Tire company, of Atlanta, as president and general manager.

Mr. Burke leaves the California Fruit Growers' exchange to come to the Grant-Jeter company, after having made an enviable record. He was in charge of the fresh fruit drink department of the fruit growers' exchange in the southeastern territory, and while with them sold more machines than any of the exchange salesmen in the United States.

Mr. Burke is 32 years old, married, and has four children. He has held the position of assistant secretary of the B. P. O. E. of Atlanta.

His many friends in Atlanta and the southeastern states wish him much success in his new venture in the real estate field with the Grant-Jeter company.

stances is not being assessed its proportionate amount in comparison with the little home owner.

A protest against raising assessments on office buildings and business property alone and permitting the tax rate on property in the outlying sections to remain the same, was made by Mr. Slaton, who declared that all property should be assessed equally.

PROPERTY, decried Mr. Slaton, "is unfair and against the state constitution. If a piece of property in the business section is worth $10,000 and another piece in the residential section is worth the same amount, they must be taxed equally."

Living Expenses Increased.

Mr. Slaton informed Mayor Sims that an investigation of living expenses showed that it now cost $31 per capita to live in Atlanta, whereas in 1917 the cost was $20, per capita was $20.

He stated that the property owners of the city were vigorously opposed to increasing the taxes.

Mayor Sims replied that the city's deficit at present is approximately $1,200,000 and that the only way in which to raise funds for maintaining the city property is by adjusting taxes on city property.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley, chairman of the street committee, in discussing matters relating to taxes, declared he was opposed to increasing assessments on central property to raise additional funds.

"As chairman of the street committee, which is vitally in need of funds with which to continue its program," said Councilman Ashley, "I recognize the need for immediate action, but I am opposed to raising this money by increasing property assessments in the business district, or any other section of the city."

"We assured the voters last year if they would support the increase of city tax rates last year we would not raise their assessments and now I am going to stand squarely on that promise."

ALLEGED BUNCO ARTIST IS CAPTURED

several months ago that he had to abandon his game.

Thompson, it is said, was indicted in Atlanta in connection with a bunco game played on E. S. Keyes, which netted the victim about a thousand dollars. This occurred during the Confederate veterans' reunion in Atlanta in 1910.

Thompson is said to be a native of Spartanburg, S. C. At Asheville, N. C., according to Donaldson, he met and married the daughter of Carter Harrison, former mayor of Chicago.

Purchased Fine Home.

He had purchased the former home of Bill Nye, "Buck Showals," just out of Asheville and adjoining the Biltmore estate, and was living there at the time that Inspector Graham and Mr. Donaldson appeared to arrest him. He made his escape after being warned of the officers' approach by a number of watch dogs which he kept on the place.

As evidence of the wealth which Thompson is said to have accumulated in the confidence business, Mr. Donaldson mentioned this estate. The mansion is fitted out with expensive tapestries, art work of various kinds, and antiques whose value will run into thousands, Donaldson stated.

Charlie McCord, the other who was arrested there, was captured about a year ago. He furnished bond of $25,000, forfeited it and is said to be in Mexico now.

Atlanta authorities had known of the arrest of Thompson for several days, but were moving quickly in the matter carrying on further investigations.

In event Thompson goes to trial, he will be brought to Atlanta, authorities stated.

145 NOMINATIONS MADE FOR 1923 KENTUCKY DERBY

Stake to Be Worth $61,125 If as Many as 15 Entries Survive Pre-Derby Tests

Harry Payne Whitney Family Leads List of Nominations With Eleven, While E. R. Bradley Comes Through With Seven.

Louisville, Ky., March 7.—A record number of nominations for the forty-ninth running of the Kentucky derby at Churchill Downs—145—made up of 102 colts, 22 fillies and 21 geldings, was announced here tonight. The

since the stake became a late closing event, was the prediction of horsemen who pointed to lack of decisiveness in the racing last year of 2-year-olds. Through sieges of coughing and fever many of the most highly regarded youngsters were able to race only part of the season. No outstanding champion was developed, although at various times derby nominees showed flashes of brilliant form.

Should as many as 15 of the 145 named tonight survive the strenuous pre-derby tests and preparation and go to the post, the stake would be worth $61,125, with the nominating fees of $25 each, $500 each additional to start in the race and $50,000 added by the Kentucky Jockey club. Of that amount the second horse would claim $6,000; third, $3,000, and fourth $1,000. The remainder, as well as a gold service worth $7,500, would go to the winner.

The nominations announced tonight, horsemen said, comprise the cream of the 2-year-old division. The Harry Payne Whitney family led the list with 11—four by Morford Jones and seven by Mrs. Whitney.

Bradley Second.
E. R. Bradley, master of the Idle Hour stock farm, Kentucky, with his seven B-named 3-year-olds, is tied with Harry F. Sinclair for second honors.

Other notable turfmen represented are: J. S. Cogden, August Belmont, Rear Admiral Grayson, Benjamin Block, Gallagher brothers, Willis Sharpe Kilmer, Jefferson Livingston, Walter J. Salmon, E. B. McLean, J. K. L. Ross and James Jones. A number of the thoroughbreds named for the derby have raced through the winter at southern tracks. None has displayed mettle that would stamp him as a derby type, horsemen say.

Of those given consideration as possible derby winners, Enchantment, Harry Payne Whitney's giant son of Chile and Enchantment, is well thought of. Mrs. Whitney is understood to favor Chastity Pie.

In the last year Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sally's Alley, a fine daughter of Altamere-Salvatore, showed to great advantage and many have hailed her as the nearest to 1922's 2-year-old champion. But one filly, Mr. Whitney's Regret, ever won a derby. Among others which showed prominently at times last year, but who were out of training most of the racing season, were Mr. Belmont's Messenger, Mr. Salmon's Vigil, R. T. Wilson's Wilhelmina and Mr. Sinclair's Ziv and Bud Lerner.

John McKewen's Prince Titi ran well during the winter at New Orleans.

NEW CHAMP SUSPENDED

New York, March 7.—Frankie Genaro, who captured the American flyweight championship from Pancho Villa last week, has found none too smooth his path as a titleholder. The diminutive Eastsider, following disappointment over the fact that Villa, instead of himself, had been selected for a world's flyweight title bout with Jimmy Wilde, of England, learned today that he was again under suspension by both the New York and New Jersey state boxing boards.

According to Louis J. Messano, chairman of the New Jersey commission, Genaro's suspension, due to his failure to go through with a match with Villa in Newark last December, was lifted only temporarily after the title bout in Madison Square Garden. It was done at the request of the New York state athletic commission, and on the condition that the boxer pay $3,000 to the American Fair Play Foundation for losses it incurred in trying to promote the Newark match. Genaro returned this sum out of his share of the purse in the Garden bout.

The suspension, however, which is recognized in this state under the terms of a working agreement between the two commissions, went automatically into effect after the title contest. Mr. Messano said, and will not be lifted until Genaro boxes in New Jersey under conditions to be fixed by the state ring solons.

These conditions, Mr. Messano added, probably would be stipulated by them when it meets in Jersey City tomorrow.

CHICAGO COMMITTEE MAY STOP MAT GAME

Chicago, March 7.—A resolution prohibiting wrestling matches in Chicago was introduced in city council today and referred to the judiciary committee. The measure was said to have been brought about by the recent action of a wrestling promoter in going over the head of the city athletic commission by securing an injunction restraining interference with a wrestling match after the commission had disqualified one of the participants.

The injunction has been used frequently recent to prevent police interference with boxing matches following an order to the police to stop all matches, which are prohibited by the Illinois laws.

NEW YORK YANKS HOLD FIRST WORKOUT

New Orleans, March 7.—Physical jerks, flyclashing in the outfield and an arduous session of stooping and stopping at the infield positions kept the New York Yankees very busy for two hours in their first real workout together. There were 25 men in the squad, pursued and goaded by Charlie O'Leary, the coach; Bob Conner and Paul Kritchell, the scouts; and Miller Huggins, manager.

Harvey Hendricks, a recruit outfielder, was placed at first base; Hinkley Haines, former college star, at second; George Anderson, the star recruit from the third army corps, at third; and Johnny Wight, obtained from the Chattanooga team, at shortstop. Wight and Anderson looked particularly good and the soldier was warned against throwing a kick into his fine fielding arm.

Sam Jones, one of the veteran pitchers, was in the bullpen, and the pitchers did not try out their arms. Haines and Elmer Smith, the outfielder, of last year's team, and Claude Johnson, who is managing at the Jersey club, were also in the lineup. Babe Ruth and Mike McNally, the flu patients, are not expected from Hot Springs, Ark., until the end of the week.

WILSON AND HURLEY MEET

Birmingham, Ala., March 7.—(Special.)—Claude Wilson, holder of the southern flyweight championship belt, but recently graduated up into the heavyweight class, will meet Lew Hurley at the Hamilton club, Passaic, N. J., Thursday. Claude won from Frankie Fasso on a foul stop week in the seventh round at Passaic.

The Wilson-Fasso bout was said by Passaic and Patterson sports writers to be one of the most sensational battles staged in Passaic, some time. Fasso was leading Wilson on points when an unintentional foul ended the contest. According to reports today as the man who younger war many admirers by his gameness in attempting to carry on the fight after suffering a terrible wallop below the belt.

After an examination by the club physician and an exhibition bout of Wilson's aluminum cup, which bore a gash, the reports said, Claude was given leave to keep up while in pain.

Hurley, with whom Wilson is matched Thursday, is a real stumbling block to ambitious hands. He has quite a string of consecutive knockouts in his credit and has been wading through the eastern bantam field with consistent and reckless abandon.

Oklahoma Solon Would Tax Men On Newspapers

Says Examination for Editors and Reporters Would Raise Standards of Personnel.

Oklahoma City, Okla., March 6.—Newspaper editors, reporters and all persons engaged in handling "copy" for publication would be required to pass an examination before a state board of newspaper examiners and pay $10 for license under a bill introduced in the upper house of the state legislature late today. The measure, according to its author, seeks to lower the level average by raising the standard of personnel on Oklahoma newspapers, and making the newspaper business a profession.

The bill provides for the revocation of licenses in case of "unethical acts" by newspaper men. Provision is made in the proposal for "eubs" who are defined as students. They would not be licensed and their editors would be responsible for their acts.

SLUTHS SERVED TERMS IN PRISON TO GET EVIDENCE

New York, March 7.—Secret Agent DiDore and Harris today emerged from Tombs prison as heroes of the "cleanup" by which the government smashed an international counterfeiting plot running into millions.

The two, posing to get information, "Salvatore" Angelo and Thomas Jackson, Pittsburgh bankers, eager to purchase $100,000 of bogus bank notes for $35,000, had been arrested, along with alleged ring leaders, and were committed to the Tombs in default of $10,000 bail.

While in the Tombs, they obtained information which led to two more arrests—those of Eric Schenito and Salvatore Esposito, who were arraigned today.

The two prisoners glared at their supposed fellows in a counterfeiting when the agents appeared as witnesses against them.

Schenito was held in $10,000 bail and Esposito in $3,000 to await action by a federal grand jury. They are charged with uttering forged notes.

PROTO WILL FIGHT DONZA

BY HOWARD E. PILL.

Birmingham, Ala., March 7.—(Special.)—Jimmy Proto, the little New Jersey bantam, brought south by Tommy Tompkins recently, and who fought a ten-round draw with Tim O'Dowd, of Atlanta, some ten days ago, will get another opportunity to show his wares here Monday night when he is booked to battle Ashton Donza, the flashy lad from New Orleans, in a 10-round bout.

Proto won a host of friends in Birmingham by his clean-cut showing against O'Dowd. The newcomer had been touted as a slugger out-and-out, but his all-round ringmanship proved a feature of his terrific encounter with the clever Timmy, of Atlanta. Proto surprised both O'Dowd and the fans by his solving ability, showing plenty of kick with either paw. He held his own with O'Dowd throughout, the bout being a torrid struggle from the beginning.

In sending Proto against O'Dowd and Donza in succession, Tommy Tompkins, who is managing at the Jersey club, is making a bold move. He is betting that Proto will prove that the kid is a real prospect with worlds and worlds of promise.

CHARGES UNION HEAD ENCOURAGED RIOTERS

State Official of Mine Workers Accused at Herin Trial.

Marion, Ill., March 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—Hugh Willis, state board member of the Illinois Mine Workers, was pointed out from the witness stand at the second Herin riot trial today as the man who encouraged the rioters to "kill them all" after a mob had taken forty-eight non-union workers from the mines of the Southern Illinois Coal company last June.

The accusation was made by Robert Tracy, a survivor of the riots. "Don't kill these men on the public highway where there are women and children," he quoted Willis as saying. "Take them into the woods and don't let one get away, kill them all."

The witness also picked out Otis Clark from among the six defendants charged with the murder of Anthony Mulvihill, one of the victims. Tracy testified that he had seen Clark up to C. K. McDowell, crippled mine superintendent and another victim of the riot, curse him and beat him. He said Clark told McDowell he was going to kill him. Tracy testified that the unnamed prisoners were taken into the woods, after Willis had driven up in an automobile and said to "kill them all" and lived up before a barred wire fence. He said one bullet struck him as he ran.

Returned Fire.
On cross-examination Tracy said that after the firing on the mine had started he got a gun, waved the gun and fired at the mine buildings and returned the fire.

John Shaffner, a clerk in a Herin hardware store, testified that some men came into the store the morning of the riot and had asked for guns and ammunition, saying: "The lord is good for it."

The witness said he refused to give them guns and ammunition and that a little later someone called him on the telephone and said: "This is Hugh Willis. The boys want some guns and ammunition to shoot birds. You let them have it and I'll make it right."

Asked whether he thought the voice was that of Willis, as he had testified at the first trial, he replied: "Before I said that I thought it was Hugh Willis, but that I might be mistaken. I have no judgment now."

Most of this testimony was given over the objection of the defense and in the absence of the jury and later it was all stricken out.

Not Yoked.

ROOKIE PITCHER RETURNS TO HOMEFOLKS

Knoxville, Tenn., March 7.—Up ronder in the Tennessee mountains where they still sit in the morning and drink it that very night, Squire Potter, a rookie pitcher of the Washington Senators, is greeting the home folks and telling them all about the strange world beyond their rock-bound realm of isolation.

Frank Moffett, manager of the Knoxville team, who sold the player to the Senators, is willing to go up into the hills and try to lure him down again, if they want him. He knows the country and many of the natives.

The Senators managed to carry Squire Potter as far south as their training camp at Tampa, Fla. In his first and only day's workout he appeared to be one of those strong, intuitive young players who play ball by instinct. But that night he felt the call of the hills and blew the camp, returning to Tennessee.

Moffett said a big league scout turned back at the town of Ashland last summer on a trip up the hills to have a look at the young pitcher. The natives all took the scout for a revenue man.

Moffett himself had trouble keeping the Squire with the Knoxville team. He had to humor and pamper the boy for two weeks until the home-coming was over and managed to keep him until the end of the season.

HELPS AGED MOTHER GET OVER PNEUMONIA

Woman of 86 Goes About Housework After Paw Paw Builds Up Her System

How Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic brought a wonderful result to an aged mother is told in a letter recently written by her son, Les C. King, of 1820 Jersey Street, Quincy, Illinois.

Mr. King says: "As regards the Paw Paw Tonic, I would like to state that Mother is the one I procured it for. She is 86 years old, had pneumonia, and after her recovery took this tonic, which built her up."

"She is now able to go about the house and do mending and light work. Am sure your tonic brought wonderful results."

"I took the Marrowbone Tablets and they have done much good for me. We have used Munyon's Remedies for years and consider them excellent medicines, as they always bring good results."

Another letter of praise for Paw Paw Tonic comes from J. W. Heath of Prosper, Texas. He writes: "During the past year I have had occasion to use several bottles of your Paw Paw Tonic, and with very gratifying results. Found it to be an excellent tonic for a general run-down condition of the system and producing restful sleep."

"I do believe that it has no equal on the market as a cure for the ills for which it is recommended. Can cheerfully say that it is all you claim for it as a tonic of real merit, and will convince the most skeptical if given a fair trial. Am always glad to speak a good word for it whenever an opportunity is afforded."

"Doesn't that convince YOU?" Munyon's Paw Paw Tonic improves the appetite. It helps digest what you eat. It treats the nerves. It remedies stomach troubles. It produces restful sleep.

It is recommended highly by thousands for indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, heartburn, insomnia and nervousness. Weak Blood, Stomach Gases, Heavy Headaches, Distress After Eating, Bloating Feeling, Sour Stomach, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Troubles.

"Try a bottle of Paw Paw Tonic now. Do not delay any longer. It costs only $1 a bottle at any first-class drug store. You can get it also from the Paw Paw Tonic Man, who now at Jacobs Pharmacy, 6 to 12 Market Street."

JACKIE CLARKE ARRIVES FOR BATTLE WITH STRIBLING

Low Silver Meets Poyner, Columbus Featherweight; Cy Young Fights Marlowe

Pennsylvania Fighter to Work Out at Jewish Progressive Club During Afternoon.

Ed Alexander to Referee.

Jackie Clark, the Allentown, Pa., fighter, who is to meet Young Stribling, of Macon, in a 10-round bout at the Auditorium in the feature fight on a program being promoted by the 108th Cavalry Troop, of this city, arrived in the city late yesterday.

Clark is in good shape, and will work out at the Jewish Progressive Club during the afternoon. This will give the fans an opportunity to witness him in action before the big scrap Friday night.

The card has been completed and in the semi-finals Low Silver, a local product, will meet Eugene Poyner, of Columbus, in a 10-round affair.

This bout should prove as great a drawing card as the feature bout. Silver has a large following among the fans, while Poyner, although a Columbus boy, is now under the tutelage of Pa Stribling.

Poyner started in the fight game under the direction of Hugh Martin and advanced rapidly. Martin later went into the theatrical business and turned Poyner's contract over to Pa Stribling. Poyner holds a knockout over Young Pittman, of Macon, who was also put to sleep by Silver recently.

Harry Allen, of Macon, will meet Young Bob Martin, another local boy in an 8-round affair, while Johnny Marlowe, of Savannah, is slated for a 6-round opener against Kid Cy Young of Atlanta.

Alexander to Referee.

The program will give the fans 36 rounds of boxing and at least one participant in every bout is well-known to the local fans.

Ed Alexander, of Savannah, has been selected as referee for the main bout. Alexander is the only licensed fight official in the south outside of New Orleans and has handled many of the large fights in this section. The promoters are to be congratulated on securing Alexander as the official for the bout.

Reports from Macon, where Young Stribling is training, indicate that the youngster will be in tip-top shape for the toughest fight of his career. Tim O'Dowd, another local boy, is spending the week in Macon, as the best of the Striblings and is working out daily with the Macon youngster. Tim

Two Cage Games in S. S. League Tonight

Two games of basketball will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gym tonight

at 8:30 o'clock, between the St.

Mark's Methodist and Wesley Thorns,

of the Dixie league. At 8:50 o'clock

the game between the Stewart Park

Methodist and the Inman Park

Baptist, of the same league will come together.

These teams are members of the Sunday School leagues and will play

regular scheduled games. Spectators

will not be admitted to these games.

On account of the state volleyball tournament Saturday in the "Y,"

no games will be played in the Sunday School leagues.

COCHRAN A & M IS WINNER

Dublin, Ga., March 7.—(Special.)

Cochran A. and M. basketball quintet

defeated the Vidalia high school team

here tonight in the semi-finals of Dublin's big basketball tournament by a score of 21 to 10. The game was one of the fastest ever played on a local court and the A. and M. team won

in the last three minutes of play.

By winning this game, Cochran A.

quintet won the championship of the county and will play the winner

among the athletic club teams represented and will play Cochran A. and

M. Thursday night for the tournament championship. Cochran A. will retain the loving cup, win or lose, in the game Friday night.

The tournament has been unusually successful and interest has been high at all times. The weather has been ideal in every way. A record crowd will see the finals tonight.

BABE RUTH OFF FOR ORLEANS CAMP

Hot Springs, Ark., March 7.—Babe

Ruth's departure with Mike McNally

and Colonel T. L. Huston for New Orleans, the arrival of Willie Mc-

Kechnie, manager of the Pittsburgh

Pirates, with a group of his players,

and the first field workout by Manager Frank Chance of his Boston

Red Sox, featured the activities of Hot Springs big league baseball

camps.

Perfect weather just before train

time drew the home run king's mind

again to the links and he and McNally

were loathe to leave. Colonel Huston, who made his 18 holes before departure, was in high spirits and predicted that the Banks would repeat their success of last season.

Two uniformed workouts today gave Chance his first opportunity to view his youthful squad in dress rehearsal. Much work and little prophesying characterize the new Boston director.

FRED TONEY FINALLY REPORTS TO CAMP

St. Louis, Mo., March 7.—Fred

Toney, former New York Giants

pitcher, who was purchased by the St. Louis Nationals after he was traded by the Giants and refused to report to Boston, has arrived at the Cardinal training camp at Bradentown, Fla., according to word received here today. He is awaiting word of reinstatement to the active list from Commissioner Landis as he voluntarily placed himself on the retired list.

Most of the members of the St.

Louis Americans have arrived at the club's training quarters at Mobile,

Alabama.

BY CLIFF WHEATLEY

It "do seam," or something like it, that my old anonymous friend down in Macon, Mr. Leigh Burr, is either thoroughly convinced that Young Stribling needs but be given the opportunity in order to become the middleweight champion of the world, or Mr. Burr wants to see his fellow townsman badly injured, for he states in a communication to this column that Harry Greb ought to be brought to Atlanta to meet Young Stribling.

Having received scores of epistles from Mr. Burr, we are inclined to the belief that he believes the youngster would defeat the dethroned light heavyweight champion of these United States, for unless Burr has changed his tune of late he is one of the most rabid Stribling fans we have run across, and we have encountered quite a few, if you are interested.

WANTS STRIBLING TO FIGHT HARRY GREB.

Mr. Burr admits that the idea of a fight between Greb and Stribling was being growing with him for several weeks, in fact since Stribling ended Greb Shade with one of the most artistic pastings the Pacific coast star had been given in a lifetime of battling within the squared circle. Mr. Burr has this to say:

"This idea has been on my mind since Stribling defeated Shade, stopped Marullo and did other things that stamp him as the great battler

he is, so I'm gonna mention it to you and see what you think of it. You have doubtless heard of a gent by the name of Greb, first half being

Harry. 'Pa' and W. L. Stribling, I believe, would like for the latter to meet Greb in a ten-round decision bout.

"Macon would like to see this bout, but probably could not make the grade. Atlanta would probably also like to see it and could probably make the grade. Here's the idea: I understand that for the trifling sum of $7,500 said Mr. Greb would consider a journey down to Five Points for that he would look upon as a few rounds of playing with a 'home proddy.' Now, I believe that this bout, staged in Atlanta, would draw

4,000 customers at a general admission fee of $3, and I further believe that fully 500 Macon fans would attend.

"Should Harry be wary of these (sometimes) cross-eyed southern referees, I do not believe that it would noticeably affect the attendance to stage a no-decision fight. Each fan could then make his own decision.

Macon fans have already made theirs. If you think favorably of the idea, have about discussing it in your column and see if public interest won't make it possible!"

BATTLE WOULD BE BIG DRAWING CARD.

The writer agrees with Mr. Burr that a decision battle between

Stribling and Greb would establish an attendance mark in Atlanta far beyond that of the "gate" at any fight ever held in this city, but he doubts seriously whether it would pay a promoter to take a chance on a no-decision affair. Seventy-five hundred dollars is a lot of money, and to guarantee that amount to a fighter for a ten-round no-decision

mill, especially in a fight center no more developed than Atlanta, would mean a tremendous risk for any promoter. However, it would be one of these fights we dream about, and we would walk twenty miles to see the issue settled.

FANS WILL LIKE MANAGER MILLER.

Otto Miller reached Atlanta yesterday, was guest of honor at a luncheon at the Ansley hotel, tendered by President Jack Corbett, and announced that he was ready to take over the managerial reins of the Atlanta baseball club. Miller asserted that he was mightily pleased with his choice of location, and this writer rises to remark that Atlanta fans will be mightily pleased with their new manager.

Otto and Jack had not been given a chance to get their heads together for a talk of team prospects, but the former declared that from the records of the men he knew had been secured for the local franchise

he was convinced that a winning combination would be the result. Miller is a quiet sort of chap, but it isn't hard to see that he will make the players give the best they have in them. You know the type—easy as long as things are going right, but a holy terror when stirred up.

There is little word for him to do during the few days he will be in the city before proceeding to Palatka, where he will start the batte-

men through their paces bright and early Monday morning, so

Otto's time will be spent at Ponce de Leon park running over the list of names President Corbett has compiled during a very busy winter. It will be interesting to watch the system of training Otto will introduce at Palatka, and we look for the Crackers to be one of the best conditioned clubs in the league by the time the campaign gets under way.

CLIFF BEST IS HARD PUNCHER.

Here is a piece of news that should prove interesting to the fans that have been studying Corbett's list of possible starters with the Crackers this summer. It concerns Cliff Best, pitcher, whose purchase was announced some time ago in The Constitution. Best, Corbett told us at the time of the purchase, is a good batter and would be valuable in that capacity. It seems from the information we have received that Jack knew what he was talking about.

Victor N. Wall, connected with the sporting department of the Springfield (Mass.) Union, writing for dope concerning Harry Damrau, former Cracker third baseman, who will play for Springfield this year,

had the following to say about Best:

"Do not know whether you know it or not, but Best is one of the few players in the Eastern league who have been successful in driving

the ball over the right field fence of Wacoan park, Pittsfield, where Best played. Best did this during a game in 1921. I believe he will make the Atlanta club a very valuable man, as he is both a good pitcher and a good batter."

CRACKER RECRUIT WARMLY PRAISED.

Lee Ware, recruit pitcher signed recently by the Crackers, is warmly praised in an item appearing in one of the Nashville newspapers, bearing an Athens, Tenn., date line. Here it is: "Lee Ware, one of the best pitchers and outfielders that has been produced in this section in a decade, has been signed by the Atlanta club of the Southern league and is awaiting transportation to Palatka, Fla., where his team will train. Ware is working out with the Athens branch of the University of Chattanooga, a club

he pitched to many victories last year, and he is in wonderful trim. Several Appalachian league clubs lost out in bidding for this young man, whose friends predict that he will give somebody a good run."

Herrmann, of the club, has decided to send Benton to Orlando, Fla.,

where the club is in training.

"Who says I stole whiskey?" Roy demanded.

"I, Faith told him."

"Who...? Somebody lied to you..."

"No."

"With looked to her husband; and Noll saw they were all waiting on him, and he tried to rise to the occasion. "By God, Roy, what did you go and do that for? God's sake, can't a man have a ship without a pack of thieves on her? Mr. Tobey,

you... He waved, his eyes swung helplessly to Faith. He seemed to ask her to speak for him; and she said to Dan: "Take him on deck, Dan. Till Cap'n Wing decides."

Roy insisted. "I tell you I didn't."

But Dan's Tobey hushed him. Dan

was getting his first glimpse of the new Faith; and he was afraid of her.

He took Roy's arm, led him out and away... Faith and Noll were left alone.

At noon that day, at Noll Wing's profane command, Roy was put in irons and locked in after 'tween decks

to stay a week on bread and water.

The boy cursed Faith to her face for Faith; and Faith went to her cabin,

and dropped on her knees and prayed.

But she kept a steady face for the men, and in particular she kept a steady eye for Dan's Tobey. She knew

Dan's now... Dan had warned

Roy, before bringing him to the cabin.

Roy must have warned the boy, for

Roy was prepared for the accusation.

He must have known what Faith

would assert.

And Faith knew enough of Dan's

ascendancy over Roy to be sure his words had no effect on her.

She must watch Dan, fight him,

and... she thanked God for Brander.

There was a man, a man on her side.

She was not to fight alone.

She dreamed of Brander that night.

He was battling for her, in her dream,

against shadowy and unseen things.

And in her dream, she thought he was her husband.

CHAPTER VIII.

An unrest seized Noll Wing; an unrest that was like fear. He assumed

by small degrees the aspect of a hunted man. It was as though the death of Shatter prefigured to him what his own end would be. His nerves betrayed him; he could not bear to have any man approach him from behind,

and he struck out, nervously, at William one day when Noll had not seen him standing.

There was as much ill feeling afterward, as if a storm had blown in from the sea. Faith, however, had not been shaken at all by the incident.

She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady. She was still the same, calm and steady.

Noll was wax in Faith's hands in these days. His fear, growing upon him, had shaken all fiber out of the man. He could be swayed by Dan's old Tichel, by Faith, by almost anyone... Save in a single matter. He was drinking steadily, now; and drinking more than ever before. He was never sober, never without the traces of his liquor in his eyes and his loose lips and slack muscles. And they could not slack him in this matter.

He would not be denied the liquor

that he craved.

Noll feared Brander more and more;

and Dan's covertly taunted the captain with this fear. He teased Noll,

on time, to flagging gusts of rage;

but always these passed in words....

And Noll fell back into his lethargy

of drink again. Dan began to fear

there was not enough man left in Noll

to act... He turned his guns on Faith, accusing her as he accused

Brander....

Faith came from the after cabin,

passed Dan's and went up on deck.

Something purposeful in her face caught Dan's attention; and he went to the foot of the cabin companion

and listened. He heard her call softly:

"Mr. Brander."

Dan thought he knew where Brander

would be. In the waist of the Sall, no doubt. There was a man at the wheel. Faith did not wish this man to hear what she had to say.

So she met Brander just forward of the cabin skylight by the boat-house;

and Dan's, straining his ears, could hear.

Faith said: "Mr. Brander, I'm going to ask you to help me."

Brander told her: "I'd like to.

What is it you want done?"

"It's Roy. I'm desperately worried, Mr. Brander."

"He's all right, Mr. Cox tells me.

He'll be well enough in a few hours."

"It's not just this drunkenness,"

Mr. Brander. It's more. My brother's... He is in my charge, in a way. Father bade me take care of him. And he's taking the wrong path."

Brander said quietly: "Yes."

Dan's looked toward the after cabin, thought of bringing Noll to year. But there was no harm

in this that they were saying:

no harm. Rather good.

He listened; and Faith said steadily:

"My husband is the man he was,

Mr. Brander. Mr. Tobey... I can't

trust him. I've got to come to you."

Dan's decided, desperately, to bring him.

Noll? "I'm going to kill you," he said,
with stiff lips.

"All right," she said, and bent her head above her sewing once more, disregarding him.

Noll was stupefied. This was not surprise; it was the helplessness

which courage inspires in a coward.

For Noll was a coward in those last days. His face twisted; he cried, "By God, sir..."

But there was no need of spur to Noll Wing now. The captain had reached the deck with a single rush.

Dan's left hand, Faith and Brander

sprang apart before their eyes; and

because the innocent have always the appearance of the guilty, there was guilt in every line of these two faces. The white line of skin where the hair was parted fascinated him;

he was level and strong, his eyes were level and cold. He looked from Faith to Brander, and he said:

"Brander, be gone. Faith, come below."

Brander took a step forward. Faith said quickly to him: "No." And she halted at him as he halted in obeisance.

Then she turned to her husband,

passed him, went down into the cabin.

And Noll, with a last glance at Brander, descended on her heels.

Dan's left hand, Faith and Brander

grinned triumphantly; and for an instant he saw death in Brander's eyes,

so that his death was frozen...

Then Brander turned away.

Faith went down into the main

cabin, crossed and entered the cabin

across the stern, turned there to await

her husband. He followed her slowly;

he came in, and shut the door behind him. The man was controlling himself; nevertheless, he thrust this door

shut with a force that shook the thin

partition between the cabins.

And he snapped the bolt that held it closed.

Then he turned and looked at

Faith. There was a furious strength

in his countenance at that moment;

but it was like the strength of a maniac. His lips twitched tensely; his eyes moved like the eyes of a man who is dizzy from too much turning on his own heel. They jerked away from Faith, returned to her, jerked away again. All without any movement of Noll's head.

And now in an effort to focus upon

her. For the rest, he was flushed, brick-red. His whole face seemed to swell.

He was inhuman; there was an ape-like and animal fury in the man

as he looked at his wife...

Abruptly, he jerked up his hands

and pressed them against his face

and turned away; it was as though

he thrust himself away with this pressure of his hands. He turned his back on her, and went to his desk, and he drew out of it a revolver.

Bending over his desk, with this weapon in his hand, Noll Wing made sure every chamber was loaded.

He paid her no attention. Faith watched him for an instant; then she turned to the bench that ran across the stern and picked up from it a bit of sewing embroidery. She sat down composedly on the bench,

crossed her knees in the comfortable

attitude of relaxation which women

like to assume.

She did not look up at Noll. The man finished his examination of the weapon; he turned it in his hand; he lifted it and leveled it at Faith. Still Faith did not look up; she seemed completely unconcerned. Noll said harshly:

"Faith!"

She looked up then, met his eyes

fairly, smiled a little. "What is it,

Mr. Brander?"

"What is it, Mr. Brander?"

"What is it, Mr. Brander?"

Dr. and Mrs. Buff Are Honored At Evening Bridge Party

One of the very enjoyable events of Wednesday evening was the bridge party at which Dr. and Mrs. Marion Benson entertained at their home on Springdale road complimentary to Dr. and Mrs. Julian Holt Buff, whose marriage was a brilliant social event of January.

The house was beautifully decorated by quantities of yellow jonquils and other garden flowers artistically arranged.

Following the bridge game, supper was served at the individual tables. Mrs. Benson received her guests wearing a rich gown of black velvet. Mrs. Buff was lovely in a becoming costume of black velvet.

The guests included a group of friends of the honor guests.

Fancy Dress Party Will Honor Charming Spring Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Elsas will entertain at a fancy dress party on Saturday evening at their home on Oakdale road in Druid Hills, which will be given in compliment to their sister, Mrs. M. A. Lothschmidt, a charming visitor from New York, and Mr. Fred Barnett, of Boston, another attractive visitor of the spring season.

The guests will include a group of married friends of the host and hostess, and the occasion will be a social event combining unique and interesting features. All of the guests are requested to wear specially arranged costumes of rare and original design.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Newell, who have been in Paris at the Hotel Continental for the past two months, are now in Nice at the Hotel de France. Upon their arrival in Nice, Mr. and Mrs. Newell were entertained by J. A. Pistell, of Buffalo, N. Y., at a dinner party at the Hotel Ruhl. Mr. and Mrs. Newell will leave the first of April for Italy, where they will visit points of interest.

David MacIntyre returned to the University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, Monday, after spending a few days with his parents in the city.

Mrs. John Lowe, of Albany, Ga., is the guest of Mrs. John Means Flynn and Mrs. Marshall Peck at their home, 241 Myrtle.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sachs are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Krieger at their home in Inman Park. Mr. and Mrs. Sachs, who have been spending the winter in Havana, Cuba, are en route to their home in Louisville, Ky.

Mrs. Alfred Fillmore, of Columbus, Ohio, will return to her home Saturday, after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Robert Leary McLeod, at her home on East Seventh street.

Walter Boland, Jr., has returned from Washington, D. C., where he was the guest of Congressman and Mrs. John MacDuffie, of Mobile, Ala.

Mrs. Clayton Cooley, of Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. George Crandall, at her home on Peachtree street. Mrs. Cooley has been in Miami, Fla., and will spend several weeks in Atlanta. She is accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. George Crandall.

Luncheon Honors Debutante Club

The Debutante club was enjoyably honored on Wednesday, when Miss Sarah Orme and Miss Eunice Nixon entertained the members at a bridge-luncheon at the Piedmont Driving club.

The guests assembled in the two blue rooms of the club where the bridge game was played. The prizes awarded were French novelties. The richly appointed luncheon table was placed in the gray room and held in the center a silver basket filled with pink roses and snap dragons. Surrounding the centerpiece were four small vases holding the same kind of flowers and at intervals were placed silver candlesticks holding unshaded pink tapers.

A business meeting followed the luncheon. Miss Louise Inman, president of the Debutante club, presided. Miss Orme wore a lovely costume of brown, navy and cream and a small hat to match.

Miss Nixon was crowned in a becoming three-piece suit of serge trimmed in rose. She wore a hat to match.

The members of the club include the Misses Julia Memminger, Pauline Ware, Isabel Howard, Vincenza Allen, Leoline J. Jamison, Elizabeth Kontz, Elizabeth Buchanan, Sue Brown Sterne, Mae Emery, Jennie Robinson, Arabelle Dudley, Louise Inman, Eunice Nixon, Lucy Chandler, Katherine Haver, Sarah Orme, Martha Roynton, Anne Grant, Cornelia Torrance, Emily Davis, Dorothy Dodd, Kate Palmour, Elizabeth Owens, Mary Frances Goodloe, Virginia Pezgan, Mary Shedd, Margaret Morgan, Douglas Paine, Margaret Nelson, Mary Nevin and Eleanor Gay.

Mrs. Thornton Is Entertained In Birmingham

Mrs. Albert E. Thornton, president of the woman's commission of the Bankhead national highway, returned to Atlanta on Tuesday after a delightful visit to Birmingham, Ala., where she was the guest of the Alabama division of the woman's commission of the Bankhead national highway, of which Mrs. Wellington Vandiver, of Talladega, is chairman.

The delegates were entertained at a beautiful luncheon at the Tutwiler hotel, and an inspirational meeting followed. Splendid reports on the work being done in Alabama were given. Mrs. Thornton and Mrs. Marie Bankhead Owens, of Montgomery, the brilliant daughter of Senator Bankhead, were the speakers. Monday evening Mrs. Asa Roundtree entertained Mrs. Thornton at dinner. Tuesday morning a ride over the city was given the delegates, followed by the luncheon and the meeting.

Mrs. George Connors entertained at a dinner on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Thornton leaves Monday, March 12, for Greenville, S. C., where she speaks on Tuesday. On Thursday she speaks at Greensboro to the North Carolina division of the woman's commission and on the 17th she is to be the guest of Virginia division of the woman's commission in Richmond, Va.

Romantic Themes Charm Audience At Music Club

A most appreciative audience greeted the artists who contributed the Wednesday morning program of the Atlanta Music club.

Mrs. W. C. Jamison outlined the composers of the "Romantic period," that period in which individuality was for the first time given a free expression. She spoke of Schubert, who was the first composer to show a marked tendency toward romantic expression. They followed Mendelssohn, one of the most lovable personalities in musical history, and Schumann, whose romantic imagination, poetic insight and independence make his compositions of extreme importance to the romantic period. The great message of individual nature expression was first spoken through Chopin and Liszt.

The program, given by well known Atlanta artists, included selections from these composers. Miss Natalie Hammond sang the Schumann numbers in an appealing, understanding manner. Wallace Jackson, concert master of the Metropolitan theater, played the Mendelssohn E. Minor Concerto and Schubert's "Ave Maria." His power of shading was excellent and he showed feeling in both program numbers and in the Kreisler selection which he gave as an encore.

Mrs. Benjamin Elson sang a group of songs including "Du Bist Wie eine Blume," "Lizt," "Der Tod und das Mädchen," Schubert, and "Waldeinsamkeit." Schumann's "The wide range and breadth of power of this Atlanta artist were remarkable and the mellow quality of her voice appealed through its pure beauty of tone.

Laurence Everhart concluded the program with a piano selection from Chopin and one from Liszt. "The Hungarian Rhapsody" displayed an understanding of the emotional qualities, was his best number. The song and violin accompaniments were well interpreted by Miss Ethel Boyer and Miss Eda Bartholomew. The program was arranged by the chairmen, Miss Hammond and Miss Boyer.

Bridge-Tea
On Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Ranspock will be hostess at a second bridge-luncheon on Saturday at her home in Decatur. The color scheme of green will be used in decorating and in the score cards and refreshments. Mrs. Ranspock will receive her guests on Saturday in a costume of black crepe.

The guests will be Mrs. William Schley Howard, Mrs. Hugh Burgess, Mrs. Cone Bond, Mrs. W. M. Riley, Mrs. Stanley Hastings, Mrs. Ed Terrell, Mrs. Myrick Clements, Mrs. Dan White, Mrs. E. B. Branch, Miss Margaret Green, Miss Ruth Green, Miss Rebekkah Green, Miss Annie Terrell, Miss Annie Grace Pimmerman, Miss Jane Jackson, Miss Caroline Montgomery, Miss Mary Will Montgomery, Miss Myrtice Stierman, Miss Emmie Davis and Mrs. Holland Fagan.

Woman's Club Board To Meet Friday.

A change in management, and the fact that we are remodeling our shoe department, planning to make it one of the finest and most complete in the south, makes it necessary that we have a "house cleaning sale" of shoes.

Therefore, we have corralled every discontinued style, all incomplete size ranges and many styles that are in all sizes, and irrespective of cost or selling price we have reduced them to the above insignificant figure.

Many of these are beautiful shoes, late models that have come in the last few weeks. They are all good shoes from the best makers. At least thirty different models will be included, and they embrace today's good styles in straps, colonials, oxfords, as well as a number of smart walking boots.

Included are:

Black Kid One-Straps, Louis heels
Black Kid Two-Straps, Louis heels
Black Kid Straps, patent trimmed
Brown Kid Oxfords, Cuban heels
Patent Colonial, Cuban heels
Patent Two-Straps, Jr. Louis heels
Black Satin One-Straps, Louis heels
Black Satin, Beaded, Louis heels
Gray Sport Straps, brown trimmed
White Sport Straps, patent trimmed
Misses' Oxfords and Straps
High Shoes with walking heels

All sizes included—but not in every style

All children's shoes, both high and low styles, are marked at less than cost.

The Sale Is for Three Days

In order to properly wait on the crowds expected, we have estimated we have enough shoes to last for a three days' sale—but don't wait until Saturday to come. First comers get the pick.

No Mail Orders, Refunds, C. O. D.'s or Approvals. All Sales Final.

Mrs. Falconer
Will Speak to Atlanta Women

Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, of the American Social Hygiene association, will speak Monday afternoon, March 12, at the meeting of the Atlanta Woman's club on "Children's Legislative Commissions" and Tuesday at the League of Women Voters' luncheon on "Making Public Agencies Function in Child Welfare."

Mrs. Falconer is also to address a special conference of Negro welfare workers Monday at 2:30 o'clock and is on the program of the Southern Child Welfare conference to speak Tuesday night, March 13, at the chamber of commerce on "The Adolescent Girl," and Wednesday afternoon on "Community Care for Negro Dependent, Neglected and Defective Children." Wednesday evening, at the Georgia Child Welfare dinner, to be given at the Woman's club, Mrs. Falconer will lead a discussion of "Provisions in Georgia for Delinquent Children." She will also be in Atlanta through Thursday to attend the hearings on children's laws, which will be held at the state capitol by the state council of social agencies and the Georgia children's code commission.

Mrs. Martha P. Falconer began social work with the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, under Dr. Hastings G. Hart. She was assistant superintendent of this society for seven years and was one of the first probation officers in the juvenile court of Chicago, under Judge Taft and Judge Julian Mack. She was loaned by Dr. Hart to work in the court.

Mrs. Falconer was superintendent of the Girls' House of Refuge, a state reformatory for girls located in Philadelphia. Through her influence it was moved to the country and located on the land known as Sleighton Farms at Darlington, Delaware county, Pa. This institution was developed as an industrial school on the cottage system, a system which Mrs. Falconer thoroughly advocated as she does farm life and out-door work and recreation for delinquents.

During the war Mrs. Falconer was loaned to the government and was in charge of the section on women and girls of the commission on training camp activities. While in the government service she became well acquainted with the institutions for delinquent women and girls in the various states and is regarded as the leading woman authority on prison affairs in this country. She is constantly being consulted by state and city officials and by directors of welfare organizations with regard to the establishment of separate institutions for women and girls and to the reorganizations of those already in existence.

At the close of the war Mrs. Falconer resigned the position she had held at the Sleighton Farms for nine years and accepted a position on the staff of the American Social Hygiene association. While she is deeply interested in everything pertaining to the care and training of delinquent women and girls, she is at present strongly advocating the need of preventive measures such as the employment of policemen, the care of pre-delinquents in the public schools, and supervised recreation for children and young people.

Mrs. Falconer is a member of the executive board of the American Prison association, vice president of the National Conference of Social Work, a member of the committee on the care and training of delinquent women and girls of the National committee on Prisons and Prison Labor, and is connected with other similar organizations of nationwide scope.

Oglethorpe Players to Give Dramas of Timely Interest

The Oglethorpe Players keep up with the times! It has bits of real humor and a beauty chorus that will be an alluring feature if the individual beauty of the co-eds counts for anything. The cast for this play includes the queen, Miss Dorothy Foster; the prince of Egypt, John Varnado; the fool, Dan Conklin; Bathor, John Jacobs; Thumos, Lawrence Pfefferkorn; priest mentor, Otis Jackson; Thotmens, Sidney Ives; Rita, Miss Lucy Pairo; and the idol, Miss Mattie White Kellam, and the chorus, the Misses Louise and Lillian McCammon, Mildred Warlick, Thelma Dozie and Alice Stewart. "Billing and Coasting" is an uproariously funny takeoff on Dr. Coe's formula and shows how far the better-and-better theory will go in a case of love. The cast is as follows: The doctor, John Jacobs; Tipton, Fredling, Du Pree Jordan; Mrs. Fredling, Miss Elizabeth Broughton; Marion, the doctor's daughter, Miss Priscilla Hunt; Zuzu, Fredie Goldring, and Ella, Miss Carol Gifford. "Realities" offers the more serious feature of the evening's entertainment. As a drama of mountain life

Fulton County Commissioners
Take Over Memorial Plan

The Fulton county commissioners will take over the planting and maintenance of memorial trees on the Bankhead highway in Fulton county, as a living memorial to the war heroes of the county. These trees will be given the names of the men and women who served in the war, and there will be permanent markers bearing the names so that all who pass by may read this honor roll. Every name will be registered with the National Forestry association in Washington, D. C., and will also be registered at the state capitol in Atlanta.

Patriotic Act. This splendid and patriotic act of the Fulton county commissioners is to be commended and should be an inspiration not only to those counties through which the Bankhead highway runs, but to every other county in Georgia. The woman's committee in Fulton county will continue their work of beautifying the highway and will cooperate with the commissioners. This assures Georgia's planting of this "Road of Remembrance," which is the most beautiful memorial which could be devised.

It relies for its interest chiefly in the characterization and is brimful of the "atmosphere" of north Georgia. Incidentally, one of the playwrights, Mr. Chance, was author of the play of mountain life that was produced by the players so successfully last year. It is a varied program that is being offered and, judging by rehearsal, a good one.

Tickets may be changed and seats reserved for the Oglethorpe Players' presentation today and Friday at the box office of the Atlanta theater.

Mrs. Newton Wing
Will Speak at "Y. W."

When the Y. W. G. A. Newcomers' club meets at the "Y," Peachtree Arcade, Friday, at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Newton Wing will speak on home economics. Mrs. Wing is chairman of the home economics department of the Atlanta Woman's club. At the invitation of the Newcomers' club she has given a series of economic demonstrations for the Y. W. G. A. The public is invited to hear the speaker Friday afternoon.

Miss Maddox
Will Entertain.

Miss Nolley Maddox will entertain at dinner Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Maddox, in Inman Park. Her guests will be Miss Josephine Boyd, of Miami, Fla.; Miss Helen Wilk, Miss Peggy Porter, Miss Dorothy Hale, Harry Chester, G. C. Baker, Albert Grant, John Cox and William Martin.

A Beautiful Complexion
of Satin-Like Texture

The incomparable beauty of thousands of women—that smooth, satin-like skin texture so much admired—is the result of Nadinola Cream, which has proved itself for a quarter of a century, the standard bleaching and beautifying cream.

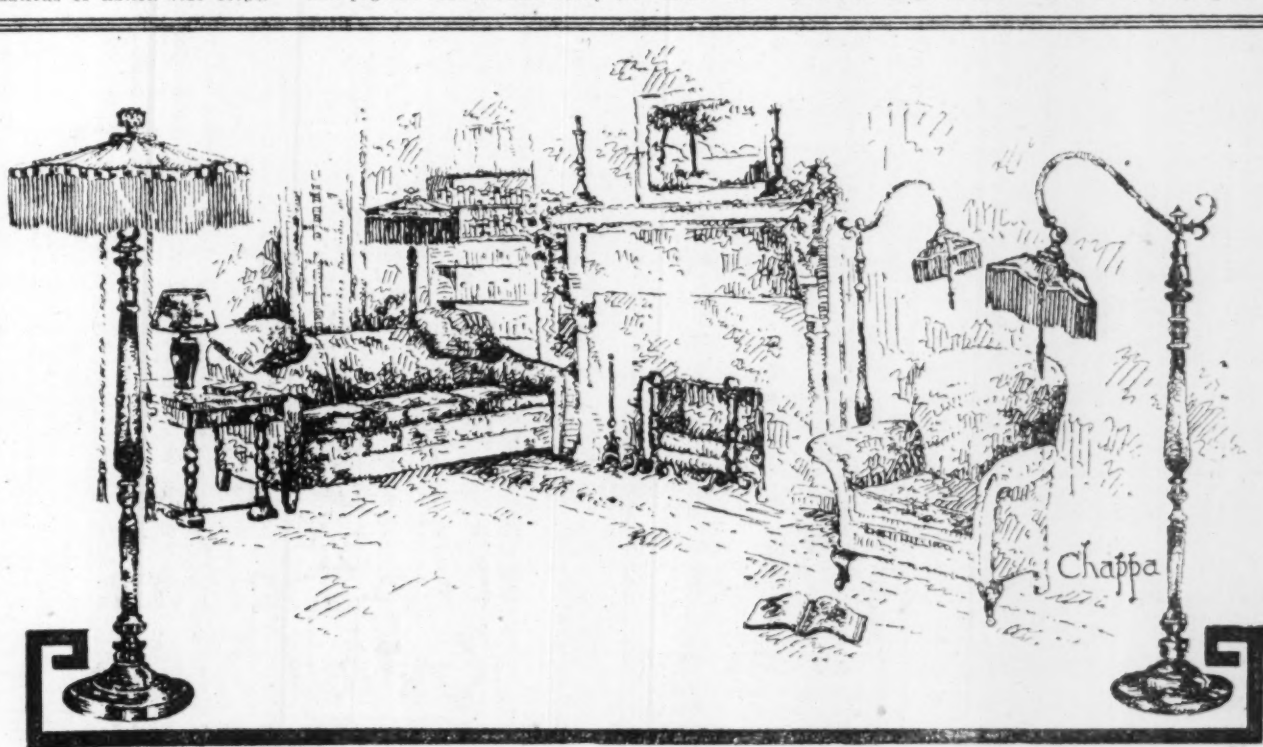

Scientists long ago discovered and combined in Nadinola Cream, elements which bleach the skin and remove tan, freckles, pimples and other discolorations. Of its own peculiar virtues, it rids the skin of impurities and leaves it smooth and beautiful.

The 50c. package will remove mild cases, the $1.00 size more stubborn cases. Directions and guarantee in each package, at your toilet counter.
